MEXICANS KILL THIRD MEMBER OF U. S. FAMILY

Ralph Greenlaw Is Slain at El Oro.

BULLETIN.

El Paso, Tex., May 4.—Ralph Greenlaw, son of Eben Francis Greenlaw of Flagstaff, Ariz., who, with mother son, was killed by Mexicans near El Oro, a great mining camp 125 miles from Mexico City on Sunday, was murdered Monday at the same place, also by Mexicans, according to advices received here tonight.

The information was received by the Greenlaw of Flagstaff, a third son, in a telegram from his sister in the Arizona town. Further details were lacking.

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—Four members of the Atlantic fleet, now in the Hudson river, received today to sail tomorrow for Mexico waters, it was reported tonight.

Destroyers immediately began to take up on supplies, and officers and enlisted back from shore leaves. The destroyers is the Billingsley, and the names of the others were not known.

Refuse Cables to Mexico.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—Cable messages refused today to accept messages for Mexico City for the first time since the uprising.

The refusal to accept messages was attributed by officials here as an indication that when the revolutionists cut railway lines between the capital and Vera Cruz they also cut the land line.

Weather Carranza still has access to the cable station at Coahuacalco, south of Vera Cruz, was unknown. But regarded as improbable on account of rebels near that point on the isthmus of Tehuantepec.

Alta Cruz, the cable station at the mouth of the isthmus, also is in the hands of the rebels.

The only land wires left the government for direct communication with the United States are those through Vera Cruz and Laredo.

His Best General Quits.

Gen. Pablo Gonzales, long regarded as Carranza's his staunchest supporter, has joined in the revolution, according to advices today through official channels. He was a few miles east of Mexico capital yesterday in command of two regiments of federal troops and had severed both railway and telegraph to Vera Cruz.

JOSE CARRANZA MAY 15?

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—President Carranza will be in Mexico May 15, and Alfredo Robles Domagosa will be chosen president pro tempore of Mexico, under an agreement reached by the various factions, according to private advices received in Washington today from authoritative sources across the border.

No formal ultimatum has been served on Carranza, it is understood; but all the various factional leaders have united in time to meet Carranza coming to power. Members of the committee believe it would be better to withhold action on the nomination of Carranza until the revolution is successful. He said: "I have a great and strong desire to see Mexico an open field for honest

BAILIFFS FOILED IN PLAN TO RAID RENT MEETING

Tenants Hide Identity; Writs Go Unserved.

A crowd of rebellious tenants outwitted two deputy bailiffs armed with writs of restitution last night in the assembly room of the Eugene Field school.

"They were members of the Rogers Park Tenants' Protective league. All of them had defied their landlords: had refused to move. The bailiffs had writs to serve on them wholesale. A buzz went around the room. The chairman of the meeting, J. R. Patterson, inclined his ear. He smiled. "You expect me to call the speakers by name," he murmured. "Watch me fool 'em."

Foiling the Law's Minions. He rose and pointed at a bald headed man near the front of the room. "The threatened suits will not be allowed to lag," said Judge Olson. "A contract is a contract, and suits must be heard on their merits, no matter what idea the public may entertain."

Tenants Win Victory. Eight tenants at 1226-28-30 South Halsted street won a victory in Judge Foel's court when he gave them permission to remain there three years more at the same rental as last year. Three of the tenants are Mrs. Emma, the first actual attempt at eviction since May 1 resulted yesterday in a temporary victory for the tenant. Deputy Bailiff Williams, with four aids, went to the home of E. Proulx, 23 West One Hundred and Nineteenth street. Proulx pleaded he had found another place to live and was granted another twenty-four hours.

New Rent Courts Created.

Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court came to the rescue of the landlords yesterday when he announced that he will establish "rent courts" to clear the docket of congestion.

Heretofore jury trials in cases involving high rents have been sent to Judge Swanson's or some other branch. "The threatened suits will not be allowed to lag," said Judge Olson. "A contract is a contract, and suits must be heard on their merits, no matter what idea the public may entertain."

JAPS POURING INTO SIBERIA BY THOUSANDS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

VLADIVOSTOK, May 4.—Jap troops are pouring into Siberia. Under guise of replacement battalions thousands of fresh soldiers are disembarking tonight. The utmost secrecy is observed as the loaded trains are shipped westward.

Whole sections of eastern Siberia are under the heel of the Japanese. The people are discouraged living under the reign of terror of the Japanese. Every thing points to the long continued occupation by the Japanese.

Everywhere in Vladivostok except from the churches Japanese flags are flying. They control and operate the railroad from Vladivostok fifty miles westward and use exclusive Japanese crews. They deal with the Siberians like conquerors.

KEMAL CRUSHES SULTAN'S TROOPS NEAR BOSPORUS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BRUSA, May 1, via Paris, May 4.—Nationalist troops have crushed opposition forces operating west and south of here, and their leader, Ahmed Anzavur Pasha, has fled the country on a Turkish gunboat.

The last fight was at Biga. Both sides were using artillery. Anzavur's men being aided by a gunboat which ceased firing on orders by the commander of a British warship, who sent his "sincere warm salaams" to Tewfik Bey, the Nationalist commander.

This was regarded as irony by the Nationalists, who assert the British backed Anzavur with money and supplies after their occupation of Constantinople when he started the second uprising. They traveled around Lake Manles, the Circassians the right flank of the Nationalist forces on the Smyrna front. His area included Panderna, Kunt, Kirmastli, Karadja, and Biga.

The Nationalists assert after Constantinople had been occupied the British asked the minister of war not to send troops against Anzavur. The commander of the gendarmes of Kemal Pasha reported to the ministry that Anzavur and his army, of 10,000 men, had fled the country on a Turkish gunboat.

Although Anzavur Pasha was decisively defeated, Constantinople newspapers received here publish reports that the Nationalists were compelled to evacuate Brusa, because of the spread of Anzavur influence.

Officers of the Speders' court talked to her. She said she was Mrs. Macco Dragovitch. She had visited the Court of Domestic Relations, she declared, and the complaint department had arranged for her husband to pay her a certain amount each week. Her husband vanished, and when she called at the clerk's office for her money yesterday she found it had not been left for her.

Story is listed in the telephone book as in business at 315 South Wabash avenue and as living at Riverside. The address of the Story & Clark Piano company is 315 South Wabash.

HOOVER CHIEFS ADMIT HIRAM IS 2 TO 1 CHOICE

100,000 Majority in State Claimed.

BULLETIN.

San Francisco, Cal., May 5 (2 a. m.)—Ralph P. Merritt, campaign manager of the Hoover Republican club of California, tonight conceded the election of the Senator Johnson group of Republican delegates.

"Like good sportsmen, we concede the victory and congratulate the winner," he said.

"The issues represented by Mr. Hoover will continue to command the attention of the country and eventually at the Republican convention. Mr. Hoover will be nominated for the presidency."

San Francisco, Cal., May 5, 1 a. m.—[Special.]—Hiram Johnson has swept California by at least 150,000 majority and with gains mounting in every fresh report his majority may reach 180,000.

Complete returns from 3,427 of the 5,729 precincts in the state gave the group of delegates pledged to Senator Johnson 246,328 and the group pledged to Herbert C. Hoover 138,060. If this ratio keeps up to the end, Johnson will have a lead in the state over Hoover of about 180,000.

The returns show Johnson leading, except in Los Angeles county, where Hoover's lead was only 745 votes out of 21,000 counted from 163 incomplete precincts, and in Riverside county, where Hoover is leading by eighty-four votes in returns from twelve complete precincts.

Johnson Sweeps North. Johnson was leading Hoover in northern California by a wide margin. In southern California, where the Hoover supporters expected to overcome the lead they conceded Johnson would get in the north, the returns were disappointing to them.

Precincts in Alameda county gave Johnson 2 to 1 lead. In three complete San Francisco precincts Johnson led nearly 6 to 1.

Claims 150,000 for Hiram. The San Francisco Chronicle, which backed Johnson in the fight, claims that the Johnson majority may run over 150,000.

Register Zernansky, one of the leaders of the Johnson forces in San Francisco county, predicts that Johnson will carry the City of San Francisco alone by about 45,000 if the present ratio is maintained. He bases this estimate on partial returns from 223 precincts out of 381 in the city, which gave Johnson 23,353 and Hoover but 7,351. Zernansky says that about 100,000 votes were cast in the city. Johnson will get 70,000 of them, Hoover 25,000, and about 5,000 were cast on the Democratic ticket.

Democratic "Deal" Charged. It would appear that the Democrats of San Francisco went heavily into the Republican primaries. It has been alleged by the Hoover managers that there was a deal between the Johnson machine and the Phelan Democratic machine in San Francisco to deliver the Democratic vote to Johnson.

Weather conditions were favorable for a heavy vote. The registered vote of the state is 1,111,192, of which 693,767 are Republicans, 247,737 Democrats and 15,214 Prohibitionists.

DIVORCEE AND BABY DISAPPEAR; HUNTEX-HUSBAND

Caused Draft Inquiry; Threats Charged.

A widespread search for a young wife and her baby daughter was undertaken by the police of Waukegan and Chicago last night because of mysterious circumstances surrounding their disappearance.

The pair are Mrs. Ruth Brennan, 21 years old, and her child Shirley. They departed from Waukegan on the electric line for Chicago last Thursday. Suspicions of friends of the Brennans aroused the police to activity.

Hunt Ex-Husband; Cite Threat.

Search also is being conducted through the cabarets of the near north side for Edward E. Brennan, a pugilist, the divorced husband of the woman. Brennan's arrival in Waukegan on Thursday was followed shortly by the family's disappearance. Friends of Mrs. Brennan say she told them he had threatened her life.

Behind the mystery is the story of a government investigation of Brennan's draft status while he was a sailor at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. The inquiry was started at the instance of Mrs. Brennan because he had failed to provide an allotment for her support.

When Brennan arrived in Waukegan on Thursday morning he went to the home of Mrs. W. G. Needles, where his former wife lived. Mrs. Needles was not at home. When she did arrive she found Mrs. Brennan had left with her baby, apparently in great haste, neglecting to take even the child's clothes.

Gets Mysterious Telegram.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Needles received the following telegram from Chicago, purported to have been sent by Mrs. Brennan: "Come to Chicago with Ed. Quarrel. Am at Black's. Will stay a day or two."

When the woman did not return on Monday Mrs. Needles remembered that Mrs. Brennan had told her of Brennan's threat and notified the police.

An investigation showed Brennan had been seen with his divorced wife and their child in a Waukegan drug store.

The next clue was given by trainmen on the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee electric line. They declared she boarded a car with the man and the child.

Choked Wife, Charge.

Mrs. Needles said: "Brennan attained considerable prominence as a boxing instructor at Great Lakes, where he was enlisted when he met the woman who was later his wife, then Ruth Crook."

HOOBIERS PUT GENERAL FIRST, SENATOR NEXT

McCray Far Ahead for Governor.

BULLETIN.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 5, 2:30 a. m.—Returns from 1,851 precincts out of 3,378 in the Indiana Republican preferential primary give:

Wood	45,491
Johnson	38,856
Lowden	20,808
Harding	12,018

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 5, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—Gen. Leonard Wood, has carried Indiana by a popular plurality of 10,000, according to estimates made at 1 o'clock on the face of returns from one-half of the state.

He has failed, however, to secure a majority of all the votes the Indiana game, delivered to Wood in spots where otherwise they might have gone to Lowden or to Harding. This, apparently, was to prevent a Johnson plurality that might have been converted into a majority, had the general tide of voting been proceeding in that direction.

Indianapolis unquestionably has been a crushing blow to Johnson and not sufficient of a victory to cause big cheering in the Wood camp.

Lowden has made a strong run in the country counties, and has carried a string of them.

There is no possible line at this hour of the makeup of the Indiana delegation to Wood. The belief seems to be that Wood may figure on six whole-hearted delegates, Lowden six or eight, Harding six, and that the rest of the thirty will be amenable to reason.

One thousand two hundred and fifty precincts out of 3,387 in Indiana for the Republican nomination for governor give:

McCray, 36,958; Fessler, 23,202; Toner, 14,897.

Seven hundred and twenty-four precincts for the Democratic nomination for governor give:

McCulloch, 11,446; Niblack, 5,101; Isenbarger, 4,791; Risk, 3,574.

WOOD WINS MARYLAND

Baltimore, Md., May 4.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood defeated Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, in an unusually light vote yesterday in the primaries for Maryland's preference for the Republican nomination for president by a majority of 7,841, according to practically complete returns today. The few missing precincts are scattered and are not expected to materially alter the results.

The vote was Wood, 45,900; Johnson, 8,059.

Denver Delegates Uninstructed.
Denver, Colo., May 4.—Two uninstructed delegates to the Republican national convention in Chicago were selected today by Republicans of the First congressional district of Colorado, comprising the city and county of Denver, in session here today. The delegates are James C. Burger and Mrs. Anna M. Scott.

Michigan District Favors Wood.

Jackson, Mich., May 4.—Second district Republicans, in convention here today, selected delegates to the national convention instructed to "abide by the result of the primary." In which Senator Johnson won a state-wide plurality of 44,371.

Kentucky for Cox.

Louisville, Ky., May 4.—Just before the Democratic state convention adjourned at 1 o'clock this morning it voted to send the entire Kentucky delegation of twenty-six persons to the Democratic national convention instructed for Gov. James M. Cox, Ohio, for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Johnson N. Camden, Versailles, was elected Democratic national committee member from Kentucky.

Texas Rallies to Wilson.

Dallas, Tex., May 4.—Indorsement of President Wilson and his administration was indicated in first returns from today's Democratic county conventions held to elect delegates to the state Democratic convention.

AMERICA NEEDS GREATEST MAN, M'ADOO REPLY

New York, May 4.—A letter from William G. McAdoo that he was not interested in the political fortunes of any man, least of all himself, but the welfare of the American people alone should determine the choice of the next president, was made public tonight by John McMurtry, secretary of the Metal Trades council of Brooklyn.

Mr. McAdoo's letter was a reply to a resolution by the council indorsing him.

"We must adopt a rational policy with respect to our material resources and development which will preserve the welfare and prosperity of our people," the reply said.

"I doubt most seriously that I possess the qualifications required to meet the exacting requirements of the present situation, notwithstanding our generous indorsement."

Then came the statement of lack of interest in his own or others' political fortunes.

"ALLIES DENIED US WILSON, WE TOOK LENIN"

Leading Turk Woman Denounces Entente.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(By Special Cable.)

[Copyright: 1920: By The Tribune Company.]

ANGORA, Turkey, April 28.—"It was to be Wilsonism or bolshevism. The allies have made the choice for us."

This is the nationalist viewpoint as expressed today by Halide Edib Khanem Effendi, the most prominent woman in Turkey and in all Islam. She had much to say about European injustice to Turkey, and when she spoke of an alliance with Russia in self-defense she was not alone. Her face was lit with the spirit of patriotism in the black of her silken yamuk. The nationalists, of whom she is not the least influential, have been denounced as rebels by the sultan. Madame doesn't mind being denounced, because she thinks the British induced the caliph to do it.

"The Littlest Rebel."

Halide is not 5 feet tall, a small bundle of energy worshiped by the Anatolians. But as "the littlest rebel" she is regarded by the allies as a most mischievous person. They tried to arrest her following the military occupation of Constantinople, but she eluded the officers of "his majesty's forces" and fled here. Some day she is going to write a story of her escape and flight, but others may want to use the route for a while—besides as chief of the intelligence bureau of Mustafa Kemal Pasha's staff, she hasn't time for lighter writing.

Over tea in the farmhouse where she is living with her husband Madame told me that Turkey made peace on President Wilson's fourteen points.

Wilson's Promises Reason.

"Of course," she said, "our military situation was bad, but it was our faith in your president's doctrines which influenced us to sign the armistice. We could have kept on fighting for a long time and not be worse off than we are today. Mr. Wilson's points have been ignored or reshaped and hardened and used to cut the choice portions from Turkey for no other reason than that the takers wanted them. There has been self-determination for the Slavs, Slovaks, Greeks, Armenians, Georgians, and other peoples, but not for the Turks."

"The allies recognize the independence of Hedjaz, which is centuries behind Anatolia in civilization, but take from Turkey all the independence they can."

The Old Imperialism.

"The Turkish people hoped and believed the allies would be actuated by the spirit of justice as set forth by Mr. Wilson. But the United States had only a feeble voice in the conferences which considered Turkey, and the old imperialism returned as unscrupulous and insatiable as ever. The terms are a great disillusionment. Also they clarify the atmosphere. The people of Turkey now know what to expect from Europe and what to expect from the United States."

Madame looked out the window across the miles of landscape.

"The view is beautiful from here," she said. "Broad and far, but not far enough for one to see into the future."

Bolshevism for Turkey.

"The future lies over the mountains—in the east. It was to be Wilsonism or bolshevism. The allies have made the choice for us. In self-defense we must take up this movement which has conquered Russia. Bolshevism here will be different in some respects when adapted to our needs. We do not expect bolshevik troops from Russia, but there may be some Russian Moslems from the Caucasus who are ready to strike with us. We will have bolshevik gold and an understanding of action against the common foe in India."

"The allies are not capable of enforcing the treaty, except in Stamboul, and we hope to convince the British there can only be peace in Asia when they have evacuated the heart of Islam. We would rather see the Russians in Stamboul than the British. Anatolia looks rather toward Smyrna as an outlet to the sea. We may make a treaty with Russia on Stamboul. We are age old enemies. It is true, but now both are outlaws, and there is a mutual bond of sympathy. Lenin comes from a Turanian family and knows the Turks, and the Russian people understand us better than any other."

MUNICH, May 4.—From the costumes seen on its streets the little mountain resort of Partenkirchen, near here, might be mistaken for an oriental town.

There were assembled representatives of most of the people of the orient for a conference on the decisions of the entente at San Remo. Enver Pasha, recently returned from Russia, presided. Beside him sat three emissaries of the sheik of the Senussi, several Tunisians, including Hassan Fahmi, and the Algerian, Schukri Bey. Others were Indians, Afghans, Persians, Tartars, Kurds, and Russians.

"War to Knife."

The decision was "war to the knife" against the entente. This purpose was reported to J. P. Pasha, who formerly lived in Partenkirchen, but who returned to the Caucasus to take command of the army of Mustafa Kemal. He refused to work with Enver. Further report was that Italy seemed inclined to sympathize with Turkish plans.

The Senussi delegates announced the sheik through a religious edict had declared the sultan unworthy of the position of caliph, and therefore he had taken over the caliphate temporarily. The delegates said all the Senussi would unite against the enemies of Islam. The movement already has progressed in Tunis, and it is hoped, soon may be carried to Algiers, where temporarily it is impossible.

Egypt and India.

Another delegate reported Egypt ripe for action, and the Indian spokesman asserted the sheik in India, but that the Indians saw through it and sooner or later the British as well as the French must negotiate with the Islamic peoples to save themselves from a breakdown.

The Russians said Russia was ready to lend all assistance in her power to aid an international Islamic war.

OUR CORRESPONDENT REVELS IN "EATS" IN HUNGRY FLIGHT

The following letter was written to The Tribune from Constantinople just before Mr. Williams left on his dash through the British and Turkish lines to the headquarters of the Turkish Nationalists in Angora. Mr. Williams was with Denikin's army, but left Novorossiysk when the bolsheviks took that city. This letter gives details of his journey to Constantinople:

Left Russia in a refugee ship and landed in Turkey in a rowboat. The Spartans—800 tons—was chartered by the French military mission to carry away persons who felt life would be unlivable under the bolsheviks. I was placed in a 2 by 4 cabin with a member of the Kuban Rada and a manufacturer from Moscow. Each of us tried conscientiously to make the best of conditions and thus no murder was committed.

No provision was made by the French to feed refugees—or any other persons—except the French naval captain, a French lieutenant, and a French chief petty officer. They, I may say, ate regularly and plentifully, while those cabin passengers holding out against mal de mer looked on with interest and envy.

Fortunately, I made the acquaintance of the first officer of the boat, who, fortunately, was a Jugo-Slav, who would give any American the shirt off his back. I ate "biftstake" being the national dish of America, I ate "biftstake." The mate was disappointed when I turned it down at breakfast in favor of eggs.

I wriggled through the quarantine and came down the Bosphorus from Galata in a row boat, sending a radio to Gibsons within the hour.

The military occupation of the city was supposed to have been an allied affair. Allied troops participated, but the British ran the show. They put it on in the absence of the French general, commander of the allied troops. Even the American high commissioner didn't know it was coming off. The British have arrested several members of the Turkish parliament and other prominent Nationalists. The Turkish press is gagged, while the Armenian, British, French, etc., papers say what they like. Trouble is expected in the interior, sufficient trouble to require a large number of allied troops. The question is: Who is going to furnish them? PAUL WILLIAMS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(By Special Cable.)

LONDON, May 4.—The Daily Mail announces the completion of a scheme for an all-British control of the Shell oil group, including the new fields in Mesopotamia. There will be a clear British majority in the directorate by agreement with the Royal Dutch group, who hold large interests in the Shell group, and Sir John Cowans, quarter-master general of the British army during the war, will be managing director. This gives Great Britain a great advantage over the United States of America in oil supplies, as the Standard draws most of its supplies from America, where the supplies are being rapidly reduced, while the new combine controls fields in all parts of the world, including the newly discovered and most prolific.

Send Plea to Lloyd George for "Prompt Trials."

Washington, D. C., May 4.—A cablegram, signed by eighty-eight members of the house, protesting against imprisonment, without arraignment or trial, of persons arrested in Ireland for political offenses was sent today to Premier Lloyd George and the British parliament.

Text of Protest.

The message said: "With the profound conviction that further wars and acts of war should be avoided, and believing that wholesale arrests without arraignment or trial disturb the peace and tranquility of a people, are destructive of human rights, and are at variance with that principle of liberty which is embodied in the United States constitution, in the provision that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, the undersigned members of congress of the United States of America protest against further imprisonment without arraignment or trial of persons resident in Ireland arrested for acts of a political nature; and we ask, in the spirit of American freedom and love of justice, out of our friendliness to the peoples of England and Ireland, and in the name of international peace, that hereafter, if arrests based upon acts of a political nature are made in Ireland by any form of authority the right of trial shall without unreasonable delay be accorded to the accused."

WILSON WALLOP AWAITS PEACE PLAN OF KNOX

Democrats Told There's
No Need of Filibuster.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., May 4.—(Special.)—With President Wilson determined to veto the resolution restoring a state of peace with Germany and Austria and meditating the advisability of resubmitting the Versailles treaty to the senate, Democratic senators received today authoritative White House information for the fight they will make on the Knox measure, which will be called up for consideration tomorrow.

In response to a request to indicate his pleasure to the Democratic senators, the president sent Secretary of State Clegg to inform them of his unalterable opposition to the restoration of peace by any means but the ratification of the Versailles treaty with its league of nations covenant.

Might Restore Commerce.
The utmost concession the president might make is acceptance of the McCumber resolution merely restoring commercial relations with Germany while the state of war continues technically to exist.

"The president will veto the Knox peace resolution with a wallop," was the assurance forthcoming at the White House during the day. It was also learned that the president would resubmit the peace treaty not later than the dispatch of his veto message to congress, thus formally introducing the league of nations issue into the presidential campaign for a "great and warm referendum" of the people.

Minority Leader Underwood and Democratic members of the foreign relations committee received Mr. Clegg as the president's spokesman on the eve of the battle in the senate.

Called "Unconstitutional."
Mr. Clegg pronounced the Knox resolution "absolutely unprecedented in the history of the United States." If it were allowed to stand as a precedent, he said, it would revolutionize the whole process of treaty making and the handling of foreign affairs by making Congress the master of diplomatic negotiations.

According to Mr. Clegg, the only way to reestablish peace with Germany is by treaty. He said the president is already powerless under the constitution to patch up any scheme of friendly relations or appoint diplomatic and consular representatives until a treaty has been ratified.

Mr. Clegg expressed less hostility to the McCumber resolution, which provides merely for the restoration of commercial relations, which has already been done practically.

May Caucus on McCumber Plan.
The entire Democratic membership of the senate may caucus to decide whether to support the McCumber resolution as a substitute for the Knox measure. They probably will do so if they can get some assurances of enough Republican support to carry the substitute.

Members of the committee learned that the president is considering the advisability of sending the treaty to the senate while the debate on the Knox resolution is at its height.

It is understood the president has not made up his mind finally on this question and that he may adhere to the original plan of withholding the treaty until he sends back the vetoed peace resolution.

No Need of Filibuster.
Mr. Clegg was told that in view of the certainty of presidential veto the Democratic senators would not go to the trouble of filibustering to prevent the passage of the Knox resolution. They feel sure they can muster enough votes to sustain a veto and thus prevent congressional action ending the war if the president so desires, and say that if the president would be simply a waste of time.

Senator Hitchcock, the ranking Democratic member of the foreign relations committee, is said to have abandoned his plan of throwing the Republicans into confusion by moving to attach the league of nations covenant as a rider to the Knox resolution. The league is the Knox resolution. The league is the Knox resolution. The league is the Knox resolution.

WASHINGTON, D. ## EX-GOV. DUNNE RETURNS FROM TRIP TO EUROPE

New York, May 4.—(Special.)—

Former Gov. Edward F. Dunne of Illinois returned today from France and England where he has been for a month on legal business, partly connected with the Field-Peggy Marsh will litigation.

Mr. Dunne said he gathered some new depositions and affidavits which will be filed in Chicago, but developed nothing which changes the aspect of the lawsuit in any material sense. While in London for ten days Mr. Dunne conferred with Miss Marsh, the mother of the Henry Field heir.

He did not go into any political questions, particularly the Irish problem. Mr. Dunne said he found France making material headway with reconstruction. "Splendid progress has been made in the last year," he said. The former governor praised the French for the way they are caring for American graves.

The former governor and Mrs. Dunne, who accompanied him, will leave for Chicago tomorrow. They spent the day with Richard F. Dunne Jr., who lives in Morristown, N. J., but is a Manhattan lawyer.

SKILLED LABOR, TOO, MUST MILITARIZE, TROTSKY COMMANDS

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

MOSCOW, May 1, via Paris, May 4.—After a short introduction in which he pointed out the necessity for the organization of labor, Leon Trotsky said:

"When approaching the question of organizing Communist society, that of militarizing economic life must be dealt with. This militarization in Russia is all the more necessary because we have undertaken the mobilization of peasantry on a large scale for the solving of problems demanding application for a large number of people. Some comrades might say that while we may have recourse to militarization when applying to labor and mobilized peasants, such militarization is not justified when dealing with skilled labor because there are the trade unions to organize such labor."

Then Trotsky explained that the trade unions will realize the day when they will be forced to fight capital for their rights and he pointed out that their structure is the best possible basis for militarization of skilled workers which will eventually lead to their becoming state departments. He continued:

"In a carefully planned organization like ours labor ought to be transferred from one front to another and commanded exactly as soldiers are. Such are the fundamental requirements of the militarization of labor and without carrying them into effect we cannot seriously organize the country's industries along new lines under the actual conditions of disorganization and lack of foodstuffs."

MRS. ENRIGHT SEES 4 VINCI JURORS PICKED

Widow Takes Keen Interest in Battle of Law.

The trial of James Vinci progresses fast, and Mrs. Etta Enright and her children, Thomas and Maurice, widow and sons of the slain labor leader, Maurice "Bossy" Enright, are watching it closely.

Vinci is charged with having driven the automobile from which the fatal shot was fired. Four jurors were sworn in yesterday, and all of them said they had no qualms about inflicting the death penalty. At the same time they said they would not put too much faith in a confession not voluntarily given.

Vinci is said to have repudiated his alleged confession, but State's Attorney Hoyne will take the stand himself to give the details of the reported admissions.

Mrs. Enright, attired in mourning, attended the morning session of the trial yesterday, and sat where she could look at the defendant. She paid strict attention to the examination of the veniremen.

Jury News Completion.
The jurors definitely selected are: William Buck, 3601 Saginaw street, engineer for the telephone company.

Fay S. Berry, 7123 Cregier avenue, electrical contractor.

Paul Kaczmarek, 4913 George street, chemist for the Western Electric company.

Nicholas J. Moran, 2123 Superior street, employe of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The second panel of four jurors will be sworn in today. When court adjourned last night three veniremen had been tentatively accepted by both sides. They are:

Alfred L. Lindmark, 3027 Lyndale street, a motion picture photographer.

Jesse M. Filkins, 215 West Center street, Park Ridge, an employe of Montgomery Ward & Co.

William K. Gibbs, 4403 Magnolia avenue, an advertisement writer.

Witnesses Still Missing.
Neither of the state's vanished witnesses, Tony Cifaldi and Tony Fusco, has been found. The prosecutors, John Prystalski, James C. O'Brien and John Owen, say they feel confident of getting a conviction without them.

It is believed the entire jury may be selected by tomorrow night and that the trial will get under way Friday.

Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the United States marine corps, arrived in Chicago yesterday on a tour of inspection. He was accompanied by his niece, Miss Anne Gordon; her friend, Miss Lucy Chase; Brig. Gen. McCauley, and Lieut. C. B. Murray.

SAYS THOUSANDS IN SECURITIES WERE DESTROYED

Messenger Boy Tells of Wall Street Loot.

New York, May 4.—In the absence of the two "Nickies"—Arnststein and Cohen—their old associates in the great Wall street bond robberies are coming in to confess.

Today the examination of Joseph Gluck, a young Wall street messenger, small bond broker, and go-between in the bond deals, was filed in the United States court.

With startling frankness Gluck told of destroying stock certificates worth thousands of dollars because they were temporary certificates and therefore worthless to the robbers' ring. He told also of turning over other thousands in securities to Cohen in the presence of Arnststein, the record reads.

Thereafter, the investigators claim, these papers were paid back into the market by degrees through the stock brokerage firm of David W. Sullivan & Co. of New York and Washington, whose organizer and head, David W. Sullivan, is at liberty under bond.

Tells of Organizing His Band.
Gluck, who, it is charged, stole more than $1,500,000 worth of securities, told of the organization of his band and of delivering $600,000 worth of stolen securities to "Nicky" Arnststein and "Nick" Cohen, fugitives from justice. He declared that for these securities—eventually disposed of through the brokerage house of David W. Sullivan & Co. of this city and Washington—he received only $10,000 in cash, out of which amount he had to give $2,000 to the "boys" who actually stole the securities for him.

Tells of Trips to Other Cities.
He declared he organized his band of dishonest messengers before he met Arnststein and Cohen a year ago this month.

Gluck then told of trips to Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Hoboken, and said that in each instance he turned over to Cohen and Arnststein batches of securities which had been stolen from brokerage houses within forty-eight hours of the delivery to him by his brother Irving, or by Herbert and Rudolph Epstein.

That the trail of the marketers of stolen securities may lead to a number of Wall street brokerage houses has been indicated.

Trail Leads to Cleveland.
Silas S. Myers, counsel for a surety company which bonded many financial district messengers who have absconded with securities, let this be known in a statement issued after receipt of what he said was "new evidence pointing to Cleveland" as the hiding place of Nicholas Cohen, wanted in connection with the bond plot. Julius W. ("Nicky") Arnststein, the alleged "master mind," may be in Cleveland with Cohen.

POLES, DRIVING ON KIEV, FORCE REDS TO RETIRE

Soviet Troops Forced to Fight by Chinese.

WARSAW, May 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Poles gradually are closing in upon Kiev, the Ukrainian capital, notwithstanding the resistance of the bolshevik infantry and artillery. Reports received here today indicate that the Poles are from thirty-five to forty-five kilometers from Kiev at several places.

The bolsheviks are intrenching in the hills on the west bank of the Dnieper in a great semi-circle, with their backs against Kiev, according to information today from the front. The fight for possession of the city is raging day and night along the line through the valleys and rivers.

Both sides are using artillery, but Kiev has not yet been bombarded. It is reported that the Poles are making effective use of armored trains, armored automobiles, and other modern equipment. From the north the Poles are proceeding southward below the Pripet and Dnieper rivers with a flotilla, using some monitors recently taken at Czernobyl, the flotilla base of the Reds.

Defenders Demoralized.

It is asserted that the defenders of Kiev are demoralized, but that the front line of the Reds is being forced to fight by the rear guard, made up of Chinese mercenaries, who are shooting down all who retreat without orders to do so.

Reports received here say that the plans of Leon Trotsky, the bolshevik war minister, for the defense of Kiev, called for the replacing of Gen. Mieszkow by Gen. Siewidow.

Disorder and confusion prevail in Kiev, according to reports received here. The dispatches, however, are contradictory, some stating that the bolsheviks are evacuating Kiev, while others say that Gen. Mieszkow, the 35 year old commander of the 12th Red army, is making extensive preparations to defend Kiev with all his available forces.

Red Retreat Admitted.

MOSCOW, May 3.—Retirement of Russian bolshevik forces from the vicinity of Fastova, about thirty-five miles southwest of Kiev, is admitted in an official statement issued by the war ministry today. It says that after fighting near that village the soviet troops are retiring to new positions. Fierce fighting continues southeast of Znamensk, the statement says.

Occupation of the town of Shemakha, about sixty-five miles west of Baku, in the Caucasus region, by bolshevik troops occurred on April 30, it is announced.

League Action Discussed.

LONDON, May 4.—The question whether the league of nations ought to take action concerning the fighting between the Poles and Russians under article XL of the covenant of the league and whether Great Britain was prepared to refer the subject to that body was raised in the house of commons today by Lord Robert Cecil and other members.

Andrew Bonar Law, the government spokesman, replied that the government was not prepared to suggest action by the league.

POLES VS. REDS

1—The Poles are fighting hard before Kiev, aided by a flotilla of river gunboats captured from the Reds. The bolsheviks are making a stubborn defense. The capture of the town was announced prematurely Sunday.

2—The bolsheviks are well intrenched along the line of the Dnieper, and appear to intend to make stand there.

3—The Reds are falling back in the region of Fastova to more strategic positions in the rear.

4—Along the Bug river, where the natural defenses are not so good, the Reds are fighting with great ferocity. A break in the front here might turn the whole Dnieper line.

Wilson Signs Bill Raising Civil War Pension Rates

Washington, D. C., May 4.—President Wilson has signed the Fuller pension bill increasing the pensions of veterans of the civil war and widows and other dependents of veterans.

An increase for veterans of the civil and Mexican wars and their widows, and less than 100 widows of men who served in the war of 1812, is provided for in the bill. It will add approximately $65,000,000 annually to the government's pension account. For veterans the measure fixed $50 a month as a minimum, with $30 as a monthly minimum for widows.

The high cost of living was urged as a reason for the increase.

Conference Water Power Bill Passed by the House

Washington, D. C., May 4.—By a vote of 259 to 30 the house today adopted the conference report on the water power development bill. Similar action remains to be taken by the senate before the measure, which has been before congress for ten years, goes to the president.

CUT IN SECOND CLASS POSTAL RATES REFUSED

Washington, D. C., May 4.—The postoffice committee refused today to act favorably on the Fess bill proposing repeal of the graduated increase in second class mail rates for 1920, 1921, and 1922.

As a substitute for the Fess bill the committee adopted, 9 to 6, a motion of Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois, by which a flat rate of 1½ cents a pound would be charged for reading matter, regardless of distance carried, while the rates on advertising matter would range from 1½ cents to 5½ cents a pound.

The vote of the committee adopting this plan was not final, committee members said.

Last night, with lightning overhead, interment of the bodies began. Seventeen were buried before dawn and twenty-six others today.

Money for the relief of the suffering had reached $3,000 tonight.

RIVALS PREPARE "STRAITJACKET" GRIP ON CHICAGO

Ask Con Con to Look 40
Years Ahead.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.
Morgantown, Ill., May 4.—[Special.]—Approximately two-thirds of the sixty-three delegates to the constitutional convention attended a caucus tonight to limit Chicago's representation in the legislature.

Lee Mighel of Aurora led the fight to prohibit Cook county from ever getting more than 40 per cent of the membership in either house.

William E. Trautmann was willing to limit the senate to that percentage, but advocated that the house members be distributed according to population.

What Plan Provides.
Under the Mighel plan each county would have one representative and one for each 60,000 population. His plan provides further that Cook shall have three additional representatives elected at large.

That will start Cook with fifty-seven representatives as at present. The caucus members were presented a table predicting that Cook will have seventy-one representatives in 1921, seventy-eight in 1941, eighty-one in 1961, and eighty-three in 1981. The house under this program would have 173 members in 1921, 191 in 1931, 198 in 1941, 202 in 1951, and 205 in 1961. In a word, it will be forty years before Cook county will have 40 per cent of the membership of the house. When that percentage is reached Cook county will be stopped.

Pension Extension Urged.
The legislative committee decided this afternoon to make constitutional provision for pensions. This can apply to more than 77,000 public employees of the state.

The section agreed to provide that the employees shall have "contractual rights" in such pension funds as the legislature has established or shall establish.

Municipal Judge Hayes, Police Captain Morgan Collins, and other Chicago city employees talked at length to the committee.

Row Due on Education.
The article on education is scheduled for consideration in the convention tomorrow. That means a battle. Delegate Dunlap has a minority report prohibiting the payment of public funds to any sectarian institution except in a condemnation proceeding.

The majority report permits, through interpretation, small payments to industrial schools for the care of dependent boys and girls. Dunlap seeks to prohibit that and predicted tonight that a majority of the convention would support his view.

In the last three days many church organizations, including the Chicago Y. M. C. A., the Illinois conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Augustana synod, the Methodist preachers in a meeting at Chicago, the Chicago Church Federation, and the Baptist Ministers' conference, have backed Dunlap.

The convention sent back to committee the proposed article on waterways.

Delegate Corlett of Joliet proposed that the waterway section of the present constitution be readopted, because he was afraid that the convention otherwise would kill all waterway plans.

A Smile Wins a Home

Orphan Son of Soldier Slain in Battle and Aurora Congressman's Wife Who Has Adopted Him.

(Copyright: Underwood & Underwood.)
Mrs. Ira C. Copley and her adopted son, James Strohn Copley.

Jimmy cried for quite a long time when his mother died—during the influenza epidemic. It was about the time that his father, a Yankee soldier, was killed in France. But Jimmy didn't hear about that. He doesn't even know yet there was a war.

Jimmy is 8 years old, and he has a big smile and winning ways. That's how he came to the home of Congressman and Mrs. Ira C. Copley of Aurora. Mr. Copley is congressman from the Eleventh district, comprising Kane, Will, Du Page, and McHenry counties. He is president of the Western United Gas and Electric company and a millionaire.

When he and Mrs. Copley saw the orphan they decided to adopt him. If he wished to be adopted. They kept him for three months. When they saw they had made a hit with Jimmy, they hastened to New York and adopted him, christening him James Strohn Copley. Mrs. Copley's maiden name was Strohn.

Mr. Copley is delighted with his son. He says if he can find any more like Jimmy he will adopt half a dozen or more.

Buffalo Publisher Denies Printers Acted as Censor
Buffalo, N. Y., May 4.—The charge that the Buffalo Evening News, after putting into type last October certain portions of Elbert H. Gary's testimony before the senate steel investigating committee was forced to change it under pressure from the union printers was denied today by Edward H. Butler, owner of the paper.

The allegation was made in Washington yesterday by E. J. McConne, general manager of the Buffalo Commercial, before the senate committee investigating the news print situation.

"This statement is wholly and absolutely untrue," Mr. Butler declared. "No such incident ever occurred."

CHICAGO WOMEN LET MISS HURST HAVE HER WAY

Believe It Will Not Work
Out for Others.

Chicagoans talked over Fannie Hurst's probationary marriage yesterday and came to the conclusion that if it suits Fannie Hurst, let Fannie Hurst carry on.

Miss Hurst, novelist and short-story writer, revealed her marriage to Jacques S. Danielson, New York composer-pianist. Monday. They have been married five years, but kept the tie a secret, living in separate establishments and otherwise seeking to ward off the "monotony" of domesticity.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour expressed the opinion of the most of her friends when she said that "if it is a good thing for Miss Hurst, let her stick to it."

"I believe that every one should do as one feels," she said. "Personally, I do not believe it would work out for the great majority of people, but that is only my opinion. Miss Hurst has picked out her scheme of life and it is really no one's affair to comment upon it."

Mrs. Countess Views.

Mrs. Frederick D. Countess felt as Mrs. Armour.

"It is terribly personal," she said. "Miss Hurst surely knows her own business, and if she is satisfied I can not see how any one else should criticize. I don't think it would work out in the general scheme of things, however."

A marriage such as Miss Hurst's is purely an individual's own affair," said Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen. "Marriage, to my way of thinking, is the basis of all family life and of all civilization. Just how one should live that life is a question for every individual to decide as long as the great scheme of things is not violated. I understand that this marriage is entirely successful, and if such is the case, or in any event, it is no concern of the public."

Mrs. Raymond Robins declared that such a scheme as devised by Miss Hurst and Mr. Danielson would not interest the masses of the people.

"It is surely not my idea of a marriage," she said.

Two Judicial Opinions.

Judge Landis doesn't think much of Miss Hurst's arrangement of her domestic affairs.

"Yes, I have an opinion," he said. "but, do you know, I am afraid that under the present postal laws you could not print it if I told you."

Judge John P. McGoorty, who has had much experience in divorce courts, strongly condemned the novelist's plan.

"I consider such a plan subversive to the building of homes, contrary to the laws of the home and a dangerous proposition viewed from any angle," he said. "The state of marriage brings with it companionship, cooperation, love and the rearing of children, and Miss Hurst's idea are contrary to the ideal of the home. I cannot too strongly condemn the example thus set to the unthinking and careless."

HUSBAND HAPPY IN "FREEDOM" OF TRIAL MARRIAGE

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—The "bark of their own designing," upon which Fannie Hurst, author and playwright, announced she and her husband, Jacques S. Danielson had been secretly sailing the matrimonial sea for five years, is a craft just as pleasing to the skipper as to the first mate. In his studio in Carnegie hall, the pianist said:

"Miss Hurst has expressed exactly 100 per cent of my view. Why, if any one would know how I feel about it, just let him ask some married man of five years standing how he would like to have a night without resorting to the hackneyed 'sick friend' or the age worn 'lodge meeting' excuse."

Mr. Danielson declared only the deepest confidence in each had made possible this "ideal" arrangement. But he said it also involved mutual and individual sacrifices.

"Will your experiment terminate and pass into a quite conventional married life if you become parents?" was the next question.

"That is hard to say," said Mr. Danielson. "It really is hard to tell—He broke off suddenly, his face brightening, and suggested, 'here is Miss Hurst now, maybe you had better ask her that.'"

Miss Hurst gave evidence that the question was one about which she had thought before and that she had reached a decision, for she answered at once:

"No, that does not mean that our basis of marriage would be altered. It might be adjusted, of course, but I can find no reason why in its essentials it should not work just the same. I can see no reason at all why a woman with a profession of her own cannot raise her children properly supervised, to a woman who is a professional in that way. That certainly seems to me to be the wiser way, at least while children are in the younger stage, unfolding like little buds growing into flowers."

MAKER OF SHOES ESTIMATES WAR PROFITS AT 2%

Washington, D. C., May 4.—Replying to charges that he had made excessive profits on war contracts, Richard H. Long, head of the R. H. Long company, Framingham, Mass., shoe manufacturers, testified today before a house war investigating committee that his company received less than 2 per cent profit on contracts aggregating more than $23,000,000.

Figures were presented by him to show that the company's profits were $402,900, which, he said, was $1,965,700 less than a normal 10 per cent profit.

$1,017,000,000 NEED OF ROADS IN 1920 TO CARRY ON

I. C. C. Given Report from Carriers of Nation.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., May 4.—(Special.)—The nation's railroads submitted to the interstate commerce commission today statements showing the amount of additional revenues needed to meet increased operating costs and to adjust their income to the 6 per cent income basis provided in the new transportation act. The requirements, they estimate, will mean a 28 per cent increase in freight rates, yielding $1,017,000,000 a year.

The carriers show that while the basis of operating expenses due to higher wages and increased prices of materials and fuel has advanced about 30 per cent, their revenue basis has increased less than 40 per cent, and that it will now require an increase of 20 per cent to restore the relation between revenues and expenses.

Hands Off Passenger Fares.

The roads suggest to the commission that the additional revenue be gained from freight traffic, leaving passenger rates at the present level. To provide these increases to total revenues without disturbing passenger rates the carriers estimate they will require an average increase in freight rates of about 28 per cent.

Railroads in eastern territory estimate the need of an increase in all revenues of 21.1 per cent, or 20.4 per cent in freight rates.

Southern railroads propose to advance freight rates by 30.9 per cent to provide 20.1 per cent larger revenues.

The needed freight advance in the west is put at 23.9 per cent, to increase all revenues by 17 per cent.

Net Income of 1918.

The carriers show that their net income in 1918 was $1,016,000,000, and that in 1919 it fell to $510,000,000, notwithstanding an increased investment of these three of more than $2,000,000,000. But, the carriers point out, if the present level of costs had

J. F. MEHREN, CITY FIRE ALARM SYSTEM DESIGNER, IS DEAD

Jacob F. Mehren, chief of the electrical repair department of the city service, died suddenly yesterday in his home at 4731 North Crawford avenue, after suffering a heart stroke. Mr. Mehren, who was born in Chicago 63 years ago, had been employed in the electrical department ever since he was 18 years old. During that time he had invented several telegraphic devices and designed and installed the fire alarm system in the old city hall.

JACOB F. MEHREN.

Mr. Mehren was one of the organizers of the Catholic Order of Foresters and was secretary of the Silver Leaf Building & Loan association for many years.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. in St. Victor's church. Burial will be in St. Boniface cemetery. A widow, Elizabeth E. Mehren, and twelve children survive.

been in operation throughout 1919, the year's net would have been only $220,000,000, or a little more than 1 per cent on their property investment of $20,616,000,000.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, chairman of the railroad executives' rate committee for the eastern territory, presented to the commission a statement of the situation of the eastern roads, in which he estimated they need $544,000,000 additional revenues to restore the relation of revenues to expenses, and to adjust their income to 6 per cent.

The net income of the eastern roads, Mr. Willard shows, has shrunk 90 per cent since 1916. Their earnings for the past four years, with 1919, readjusted to the present level of operating costs, have been as follows:

	Operating	Net Income
1916	$570,377,155	$7,414,464,434.104
1917	$477,306,742.21	$68,281,649.20.737

'BLUEBEARD' IS CHARGED WITH KILLING WIFE

Is Chief Witness Against Self at Inquest.

El Centro, Cal., May 4.—Walter Anderson Watson, confessed polygamist, was formally charged with murder today after a coroner's jury returned a verdict that Nina Lee Deloney's death was caused by a blow on the head by James Watson. The latter is one of several names by which the polygamist is known. The body of the Deloney woman was recovered today by a posse which Watson led to her grave.

Watson was the principal witness at the inquest. He identified the body as that of "my wife, Mrs. Deloney." He told the jury he had killed her and had buried the body in the lonely grave in a gulch in the mountains three miles west of El Centro.

Leads Posse to Body.
The recovery of the body of the Deloney woman was spectacular. Watson, riding in an ambulance, police, public officials, newspapermen, photographers, a crowd of curiosity seekers—more than 500 in all—formed the searching party. At a point five miles north of Coyote Wells Watson halted the procession. "There's the gulch," he said. Pale, nervous, his legs tottering, Watson stepped from the ambulance and looked about him.

"There's the lodge," he said suddenly, pointing to a rocky spot a few yards from where he stood. Deputy sheriffs with shovels stepped forward and turned a few bits of earth, while cameras clicked and the crowd stood watching.

Body Is Recovered.
Then one of the diggers started back, dropped his shovel and bent forward. An instant later the canvas shrouded form of the dead woman was taken from the small grave into which it had been thrust.

The canvas was opened just enough to make sure there was no mistake. It was allowed to rest until a casket arrived. Then the prisoner, the body of his victim, and their escort started toward El Centro for an inquest.

As the hour approached for the officers to place Watson on the train for his return to Los Angeles a mob gathered at the railroad station and threats of lynching grew so loud that Sheriff Applehill and the Los Angeles police escorted the prisoner to another station by automobile, concealing their destination.

Chicago Man Charged with $100,000 Frauds

New York, May 4.—Theodore A. Frey of Chicago, a stock broker, was held in $100,000 bail today to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of defrauding his clients. Assistant District Attorney Kilroe told the court that Frey is also wanted in Los Angeles and that the amount involved in the alleged frauds is approximately $100,000.

Mrs. Ruth Brennan and her baby Shirley have disappeared from Waukegan under mysterious circumstances. The police are seeking not only the missing pair, but also Mrs. Brennan's former husband, Edward, who, they have been told, made threats against her because during the time he was at Great Lakes she accused him of being a draft dodger masquerading under his crippled brother's name.

THOSE WHO LOST BY WAR FIRST TO HONOR DEAD

Public Cold to Plea to Deck Graves.

Mothers never forget. Fathers, sisters, and sweethearts may also be depended on to help in raising funds to put flowers on the graves of soldiers in France on Memorial day this year. But the great outside public, whose members were not touched in their own homes by the war, must give more money if the fund is to be sufficient to put roses on even a few thousand of the 70,552 graves over there.

J. M. Kemble of Muscatine, Ia., sent $5 yesterday and a letter in which he said:

"My son, Lieut. John H. Kemble, lies in Romagne cemetery (with 22,000 other American soldiers). I would like some roses placed there and over the graves of others who might not have had some one to see they are remembered."

All Mothers Remember.
All the mothers, it seems, are sending in money. They are so grateful for this offer of the Paris staff of THE TRIBUNE to help in the work of taking care of unremembered graves.

A New York theatrical man, journeying west, was attracted by the opportunity offered by THE TRIBUNE and sent back a check for $5.

Carl N. Austin writes: "On last Memorial day it was my great privilege to take part in the ceremony honoring our 125 comrades who are buried at Manchester, England, and Memorial day came to have a deeper significance than ever before. This year the Americans are gone, but I know the graves will not go untended. I count it a privilege to be able to contribute."

The Ebenezer Baptist church, John F. Thomas, pastor, sends $5.

Frank Zajicek sent $10 for the work, in memory of his son. He wrote: "On behalf of the dead heroes and their grief-stricken kin: A thousand thanks to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE."

LEGION AIDS PROJECT.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 4.—Appeals from relatives of America's fallen heroes sleeping in cemeteries throughout France asking that none of them be overlooked in the Memorial day ceremonies to be conducted by the Paris post of the American Legion on May 30, are being received at the national headquarters of the legion here by hundreds from all parts of the United States.

To insure success of the plan to place flowers on every American grave in France through contributions of $5 from each of the legion posts now organized, National Adjutant Boiles today wired members of the national executive committee in every state asking them to cooperate with their various department headquarters to see that each post forwards its quota of the fund in time to reach the national treasurer here within a week, if possible.

HOLLAND PORTS CLEAR, STRIKES CRIPPLE OTHERS

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—The Dutch ports, after having been closed for more than two months, on account of the harbor workers' strike, are open to shipping and the agents of the Holland-American line have been swamped with applications for cabins. The new sailing list has not yet been issued, but it is certain the Rotterdam will leave New York on June 10.

The joy of the steamship agents was dimmed, however, by the announcement that all sailings to or from Copenhagen on the Scandinavian-American line boats until Aug. 1, had been canceled on account of the strike there, and that 10,000 passengers would have their money refunded.

This was followed by the cable dispatch from Havre that the sailing of French-line vessels had been indefinitely postponed by a fresh strike of the harbor workers.

Post Says He Never Had a Chance to Face Charges

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—Assistant Secretary of Labor Post today wrote Representative Campbell, Kansas, chairman of the house committee on rules, before which is pending the Hoch impeachment resolution directed at him, protesting because he had not been given an opportunity to be heard. Mr. Campbell replied that Mr. Post never had asked to be heard and that he could do so at any time he wished. Mr. Campbell said, however, that he did not propose to ask him to come.

LIMITING CHICAGO REPRESENTATION.

It would be a pity if the new constitution should fail of adoption because the convention ignored or underestimated the weight of a concentrated opposition from Chicago. The constitution cannot hope for a unanimous vote down state. It cannot pass without strong support in Chicago.

That support, it is well to say quite frankly, will be lost if the problem of representation is not handled with due moderation. The best thought in Chicago does not oppose restriction. A very considerable minority, at least, of Chicagoans realize that the down state people have reason to seek protection for themselves and the state against the forces which at times win the concentrated political power of the city. In fact they look to the country for support in their own opposition to such forces. Therefore they do not oppose reasonable limitations on the expansion, through mere growth of population, of Chicago's power in the state legislature.

For example, the federal constitution offers a solution which has commended itself in the experience of more than a century. Our state constitution might follow the example by providing for a uniform representation in the house according to population and for a representation in the upper chamber fixed territorially as that of the states in the federal senate.

This would preserve a check upon the power of Chicago as a political entity without producing what always must seem to the individual voter an injustice and oppression, namely that his vote shall count for less in making the laws which govern him than that of another citizen who lives a few miles away.

Chicago is growing at a more rapid rate than the country. That is the nature of cities and especially of cities like Chicago, are still young. It may be that Chicago will have a greater population than the rest of the state long before this constitution is replaced by its successor. If it be provided that in the house of representatives two senators' votes in Chicago count for less in the legislature than one vote from down state, Chicago cannot justify acceptance of such a serious handicap.

Indeed we think it would not benefit the state in the long run. Chicago would never rest content under such a disadvantage. It would be a perpetual cause of division and ill feeling between us and our fellow citizens down state, a condition of perpetual disunion destructive of the sense of interdependence and community of purpose essential to our highest development.

In matters of revenue and taxation such inequality would prove especially onerous. There would be no just relation between representation and taxation. Chicago with its concentration of wealth would produce a very large proportion of the state revenue, but would have no proportionate voice in its expenditure.

A fair check upon Chicago's representation, we think, would be accepted as in our own interest and that of the state's. But if the limitation is too drastic, it will defeat the constitution.

CLEAR THE TRACK.

The railroad problem has reached a point in the east where New York newspapers now find it necessary to haul their print paper by motor truck hundreds of miles from the plants in the Adirondacks to their plants at a cost of ten times the normal railroad freight rates. They do so because the railroads cannot be depended upon to make deliveries.

We cite this fact because it is of our own knowledge, but it is offered merely as an illustration of the condition into which the railroads have slumped throughout the country. Every resident of the United States is paying to a greater or less extent for this inability of the railroads to handle freight promptly and efficiently. Farmers pay by inability to market their produce quickly and economically. Factories pay by inability to obtain raw materials and to ship out their wares. Merchants pay by the necessity of carrying larger stocks to guard against interrupted receipts. Consumers pay, as usual, by having all these burdens passed on to them.

Several things are to blame. One is the almost complete cessation of railroad extension and provision of rolling stock during the war period. One is labor trouble. One is the inability of the railroads to obtain funds to remedy the first two evils. In the last analysis, therefore, it seems to be reduced to the question of obtaining funds.

Washington dispatches announce that informal conferences between railroad executives and members of the interstate commerce commission have revealed a probable request for an increase of freight rates averaging approximately 27 per cent, which will mean about $1,000,000,000 annual increase in the gross income of the railroads. The first public reaction to that suggestion is likely to be one of opposition. A generation of opposition to all railroad demands, based upon what once was a well founded belief in the purely predatory nature of the railroads, is not easily altered.

But the railroads are no longer purely predatory. They have been thoroughly subdued; so thoroughly, in fact, that it is now the public which suffers by restriction rather than the railroads. Russia today furnishes an illustration of what railroad restriction can mean. With millions of tons of products on its farms, that nation is barefoot and its cities hungry because it cannot move these products to market. We have not yet reached such a state of congestion, and probably we never will, but we are headed in that direction if relief is not provided.

Every day every individual is paying the price of delay. The railroads cannot correct the situation unless they are allowed what may seem to the average person a heavy increase in rates. With such an increase they can improve transportation. Such improvement will more than pay for itself by reducing the overhead expense in all business and to the consumer.

The public should cast aside its old theories concerning the railroads and accept the new facts. Rates must and will be increased. Paradoxical as it may sound, higher freight rates eventually will mean lower prices.

FOR A GREATER AMERICAN LEGION.

The present state-wide campaign to increase the membership of the American Legion from 60,000 to 100,000 veterans should be of interest, not only to the veterans themselves, but to the people at large.

Despite opposition to the bonus and ill feeling aroused thereby, and despite the errors due to imperfect organization, the Legion has already proved itself a power and an influence for good. This has been demonstrated by its stand against radicalism. Incidentally it has been shown by the increase of from $30 to $80 a month in the compensation for disabled soldiers.

Its potential power and influence are even greater, but they depend largely upon the extension of its membership and the general improvement of its national organization. It now has more than 1,500,000 members. Some 2,500,000 others are qualified for membership. For their own good and the good of the country we believe they should do so. Four million well organized men can exert a tremendous influence in the nation's affairs. The record of the Legion to date and our acquaintance with individual members lead us to believe that this influence will on the whole be good. For their own advantage and the future advantage of the nation we believe the veterans should join and support the Legion. Unless they do so their strength will be dissipated and a great opportunity lost.

SPINACH WITH A KICK.

At the risk of starting an invasion of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium grounds which will leave them in ruins, spread to the parks, and require the sparrow cops to be more alert and nimble than the sparrows which they shepherd, we sound our seasonal pean to the succulent dandelion as the spinach with a kick.

Properly approached, it will make the old young, the sluggish vigorous, the fat lean, the hungry satisfied, and the poor richer. Its pursuit, capture, Fletcherization, and digestion will reduce the strike evil, tame the red, reduce the cost of living, calm unrest, and bring us to look upon life with a less jaundiced eye. Is there any other one thing holding such possibilities of happiness? We doubt it.

Take your case knife in hand and invade the lawn. If you have no lawn, do your hunting on the highways. If the prize eludes you there, accept Dr. Robertson's invitation to weed the sanitarium grounds. Get the fresh air, the sunlight, and the dandelions. Cook them or serve them as salad. Even those who still bewail their light wines and beer will find life no dark with this spinach with a kick. Even the prohibitionists will take a more tolerant view of mankind's follies.

THE NATIONAL FOREIGN TRADE CONVENTION.

Fifty Chicago business men, headed by Wyllys W. Baird, president of the Association of Commerce, left this city May 1 to attend the seventh national foreign trade convention which meets in San Francisco on May 12. Similar delegations are booked from all sections of the country. The meeting will be one of real importance to the country.

Statistics reveal a steady decrease in numerous lines of United States exports of late. This is due in part to the foreign exchange situation and in part to the fact that Europe is beginning to supply its own needs along lines which have been furnished by the United States for several years. Whatever the cause, the fact remains that our foreign market is shrinking. To keep our factories running and a profitable exchange of exports and imports moving, it is essential that new markets be opened and trade routes established.

Wise counsel and agreement among the nation's leading business men is advisable to this end. The convention provides an opportunity for formation of practical policies. The men who attend it are carrying a real responsibility. Upon their decisions may depend a readjustment which will mean prosperity or hardship to millions.

Editorial of the Day

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

[Los Angeles Times.]

Undismayed by a record that reads very much like a petition in bankruptcy, all liabilities and no assets, Democratic cohorts 50,000 strong are preparing to gather in San Francisco on June 23 for one of the most riotous wakes that ever attended the demise of a great political party. It is to be a wide open convention with the selling for the limit. There will be but few pledged delegates, for the good and sufficient reason that the leading Democrats of the country have all declined to go into presidential primaries.

There is, of course, the off chance that the Republican party may split up or commit hara-kari in Chicago before the Democratic convention meets, and for that reason Palmer, McAdoo, Hitchcock, and a few other administration Democrats are waiting in the wings.

President Wilson wants to make the league of nations and the ratification of the peace treaty without reservations the one issue of the campaign, and, if his health permits, it is understood that he will go himself to San Francisco and address the convention. But the majority of the Democratic leaders are averse to making article X of the league of nations covenant the one issue. They suspect that the majority of the voters of the country prefer the reservations proposed by the Republican majority in the senate to the treaty as it was written.

That there will be a clash over this plank is indisputable, and it will test the comparative strength of the Democratic party and the so-called Wilson party. But it is not at all certain that the peace treaty will get the right of way in the Democratic convention. Gov. Edwards of New Jersey is regarded by what was once the dominant wing of the Democratic party as the one wet hope of the country. The wet dream of securing a referendum on national prohibition by inserting an extremely moderate prohibition enforcement plank in the platform. They would like to write into it a plea for light wines and beer and then nominate Edwards for president. Those who have watched the trend of political events during recent months agree that the wet forces will make a desperate struggle for possession of the works at San Francisco.

THE BLUEPRINT SCHOOL.
Sir: I notice a lamentable weakness seizing some American cartoonists, i. e., the habit of explaining little ideas in their work, by arrows pointing, etc., leaving the reader no chance to use his head. An example from an old "Punch": Lucy (studying geography): "Harry, whatever is the equator?" Harry: "Why, the equator is a menagerie lion going 'round the world'."

Then follows this appalling explanation in brackets: "Harry has been to the circus lately, and has probably confused menagerie lion with imaginary line."

DOES our correspondent attend the movies? If he does his pain must be acute. For in the film wheezes the obvious is en fœur.

BEATING THE ICEMAN.

THOSE people who cannot afford ice are up against a hard proposition during the hot weather when it comes to milk. Either they have to do without or else they are forced to buy from the stores in small quantities twice a day or oftener.

In Europe during the course of the great war they learned to use dried milk to a large extent. Now that the war is over they seem disposed to stick to dried milk and we ship a good part of the goods to them. Two years ago the British government issued a voluminous report on milk powder as a baby food.

Dr. V. Borland, writing in the London Lancet, gives directions for baby feeding when dried milk is used. He employs a full cream dried milk. All measurements are in terms of a level teaspoonful. He disregards age entirely and goes wholly by weight in making his formulae. Young babies are fed every three hours, but older babies are fed every four or five hours. Older babies are fed every three and one-half hours. The total number of feedings in the twenty-four hours. Older babies are fed every three and one-half hours. The total number of feedings in the twenty-four hours.

A baby weighing seven pounds or less is fed a number of teaspoonfuls of dried milk equal to 9 plus the weight. If the baby weighs between 7 and 16 pounds add 10 to get the daily allowance of dried milk. This total quantity is divided into four, five, or six equal feedings according to circumstances. If the child weighs over 16 pounds the number of teaspoonfuls of dried milk is a feeding is that of the second—6, 7, 8, 9, as the case may be.

He never goes over thirty teaspoonfuls of dried milk in a day. Whenever the baby is large enough to need more food than is supplied by thirty level teaspoonfuls of dried milk a day he is large enough to eat milk puddings and other accessory foods.

To bring dried milk back to whole milk add eight teaspoonfuls of boiled water for every teaspoonful of the dry powder. Some of the British health officers advocated diluting the milk with less than eight parts of water, especially in certain baby digestion troubles. They say that certain cases of babies and babies suffering from indigestion do better on milk powder to which not very much water has been added.

Borland says that when a baby being fed milk powder cannot be brought to sleep, the mother may be all right to give directions for one month. The instructions given under these circumstances is to increase the daily allowance of dried milk one-half teaspoonful each week.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER

DON'T CROSS THE BRIDGE, ETC.
The bonus bill now pending in congress is the source of much worry and speculation of the ex-service men. They write to this department daily for some definite information about it. It is impossible to make any definite statements about what the bill will do until the bill is passed, if it does become a law. To watch the news items from day to day is the most encouragement that can be given now. If the bonus is paid, many ex-service men have been collecting it through some rigid discrimination of the law will think that they are unjustly treated. However, these will be in the minority, as such a law, affecting so many, will be so constructed as to be of benefit to the most men justly entitled to the compensation.

WANTS TO GO BACK.
Chicago, May 2.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Having a little time today I am going to ask you a question which has been on my mind for some time. I have thought ever since I returned to the United States that I should like to go back to France. I have heard that many firms are employing men to go to France on reconstruction work. I can't find out the names of any of these firms. Can you tell me where to apply?

W. N. F.

The war department received so many letters asking the same inquiry that they designated all the firms contracting for reconstruction work in France and found that all the firms were sending only experienced men to France. There are no jobs for U. S. ex-service men in France outside of these men.

TO CHANGE METHODS OF PAYMENTS.
Maynard, Ia., May 3.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I am in the naval reserve force of the ninth, tenth, and eleventh Iowa districts. I have not received my Victory button. Where shall I send for it?

I have converted my insurance to a thirty payment life policy to be paid by the button. I now wish to change this so that the money will be paid in a lump sum in the event of my death. How shall I go about it to have it changed? E. S.

The Victory buttons are available at any recruiting office. Or you may apply to your district commandant, at Great Lakes, Ill. Send along your release papers when applying for the button.

To make other disposition of your insurance benefits, write to the insurance section of the bureau of war risk insurance, Washington, D. C. Be sure to give your full name, serial number, policy, or certificate number and the organization with which you served.

"FLEET REVIEW" AGENT APPOINTED.
Chief Yeoman A. S. Teleski, U. S. N., of the local navy recruiting station, 619 South State street, has been designated as an agent for the Fleet Review, the journal of the enlisted men of the United States navy. May's issue has been received and is now on sale. This magazine contains the latest news of the navy, the service pay issue and reports are sent to the minute. Also marine experiment, vocational training, fully described with illustrations of the school; appointment of warrant officers, interesting news letters from all over the world with attractive cartoons, latest authentic data from the navy department regarding naval reserve force, and many other interesting items of interest to service and ex-service men.

Forty-six names were added to the roll of John McShane post as a result of the visits of National Commander Franklin P. O'Leary and State Commander Milton J. Foreman to the post's mass meeting of veterans in Seventh Regiment army Monday night.

Boxing bouts will feature the membership drive get-together of Marshall Field & Co. post tonight on the U. S. S. Commodore at the foot of Randolph street.

Women relatives of the men in the George L. Giles post are in charge of booths in State street at Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets and in Forest avenue at Thirty-fifth. A rally of veterans will be held tomorrow night at 3201 South Wabash avenue.

Legionnaires of the Consumers company will devote four hours daily to canvassing the personnel of the organization for members this week.

Father Kelly, national chaplain of the American Legion, will arrive today to take part in the membership drive.

MISCELLANEOUS.
Members of the Fifty-fifth infantry auxiliary are invited to attend a fancy dance at the Khaki and Blue club tomorrow night.

ROBUSES VS. JUNKETS.
Chicago, May 1.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—If, without levying an 80 per cent retroactive war profits tax, congress could appropriate $400,000,000 or $500,000,000 for the enforcement of the prohibition amendment, which was entirely unnecessary except to those who secured fat jobs thereby, then congress should, without hesitation, be willing and able to appropriate ten times that amount for those who served their country practically without pay during the war.

Apparently these would be "ninety day wonders" seeking to impose this tax as a soporific to the public mind, and to the proceeds derived from this taxation to de-

THE RESTLESS AGE.
Oakland, Ill., April 23.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—I am teaching a class in citizenship in high school. In this class are several senior boys from just such farm homes as Mr. McCutcheon portrays. These boys declare that they will never be farmers. One will receive a Dodge for a graduation present. His father drives a fine Packard. The farm has a Ford and a Fordson. This boy's ambition is to become an osteopath.

As a teacher of youth and a student of sociology I greatly lament the current desire of our youth to leave the farm. These boys are doing, however, exactly what I and three brothers have done. And even father has "moved to the city" now.

I believe the nation needs a vigorous "stick to the farm" campaign.

J. T. DORRIS.

DEFENDING LIFE ON THE FARM.
Rockford, Ill., April 23.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—A word to F. G. of Chicago. In taking issue with Mr. McCutcheon's cartoon showing a library of books in a farm home you forget that Mr. McCutcheon grew up in Indiana, where books were made. Your visiting and working must have been on the farms over toward Danville, in the log cabin neighborhood.

From my front porch I can see half a dozen farm homes, furnace heated, electric lighted, hot and cold running water systems, with books on every subject of interest to the family.

Stop contrasting the worst in the country with the best in the city. In every city there are places in which a single block contains more squalor, poverty, and mere existence than can be found in the entire country in which I live.

I do not pretend to know why the country is being depopulated of workers. I know it is not lack of jobs. I know it is not a question of wages, for I offered a factory worker the same wages for the same hours' work and in addition a good residence, electric lighted, with a bonus of $100 at the end of the year, and he refused.

This I do know: The food supply will be reduced materially until men are willing to work the land. People cannot live on diversions. It may require an old fashioned Cleveland panic, with its bread lines, to persuade men to change their view of "diversions." Money will not buy food when there is no food.

If there is albuminuria, or if there are heart murmurs, the child should be restrained for a few days after the fever has settled up, and exercise should be gradually increased. If there is albuminuria the diet should consist of cereals, bread, milk, vegetables, fruit, fats, and a small allowance of meat. If there is no albuminuria the diet can be the usual convalescent tray. Scarlet fever is not so apt to cause paralysis of the

LIMITING CHICAGO REPRESENTATION.

It would be a pity if the new constitution should fail of adoption because the convention ignored or underestimated the weight of a concentrated opposition from Chicago. The constitution cannot hope for a unanimous vote down state. It cannot pass without strong support in Chicago.

That support, it is well to say quite frankly, will be lost if the problem of representation is not handled with due moderation. The best thought in Chicago does not oppose restriction. A very considerable minority, at least, of Chicagoans realize that the down state people have reason to seek protection for themselves and the state against the forces which at times win the concentrated political power of the city. In fact they look to the country for support in their own opposition to such forces. Therefore they do not oppose reasonable limitations on the expansion, through mere growth of population, of Chicago's power in the state legislature.

For example, the federal constitution offers a solution which has commended itself in the experience of more than a century. Our state constitution might follow the example by providing for a uniform representation in the house according to population and for a representation in the upper chamber fixed territorially as that of the states in the federal senate.

This would preserve a check upon the power of Chicago as a political entity without producing what always must seem to the individual voter an injustice and oppression, namely that his vote shall count for less in making the laws which govern him than that of another citizen who lives a few miles away.

Chicago is growing at a more rapid rate than the country. That is the nature of cities and especially of cities which, like Chicago, are still young. It may be that Chicago will have a greater population than the rest of the state long before this constitution is replaced by its successor. If it be provided that in the house of representatives two senators, votes in Chicago count for less in the legislature than one vote from down state, Chicago cannot justify acceptance of such a serious handicap.

Indeed we think it would not benefit the state in the long run. Chicago would never rest content under such a disadvantage. It would be a perpetual cause of division and ill feeling between us and our fellow citizens down state, a condition of perpetual disunion destructive of the sense of interdependence and community of purpose essential to our highest development.

In matters of revenue and taxation such inequality would prove especially obnoxious. There would be no just relation between representation and taxation. Chicago with its concentration of wealth would produce a very large proportion of the state revenue, but would have no proportionate voice in its expenditure.

A fair check upon Chicago's representation, we think, would be accepted as in our own interest and that of the state's. But if the limitation is too drastic, it will defeat the constitution.

CLEAR THE TRACK.

The railroad problem has reached a point in the east where New York newspapers now find it necessary to haul their print paper by motor truck hundreds of miles from mills in the Adirondacks to their plants at a cost of ten times the normal railroad freight rates. They do so because the railroads cannot be depended upon to make deliveries.

We cite this fact because it is of our own knowledge, but it is offered merely as an illustration of the condition into which the railroads have slumped throughout the country. Every resident of the United States is entitled to a greater or less degree of freedom of movement. It is to be a wide open country for the inactivity of the railroads to handle freight promptly and efficiently. Farmers pay by inability to market their products, quickly and economically. Factories pay by inability to obtain raw materials and to ship out their wares. Merchants pay by the necessity of carrying larger stocks to guard against interrupted receipts. Consumers pay, as usual, by having all these burdens passed on to them.

Several things are to blame. One is the almost complete cessation of railroad extension and provision of rolling stock during the war period. One is labor trouble. One is the inability of the railroads to obtain funds to remedy the first two evils. In the last analysis, therefore, it seems to be reduced to the question of obtaining funds.

Washington dispatches announce that informal conferences between railroad executives and members of the interstate commerce commission have revealed a probable request for an increase of freight rates averaging approximately 25 per cent, which will mean about $1,000,000,000 annual increase in the gross income of the railroads. The first public reaction to that suggestion is likely to be one of opposition. A generation of opposition to all railroad demands, based upon what once was a well founded belief in the purely predatory nature of the railroads, is not easily altered.

But the railroads are no longer purely predatory. They have been thoroughly subdued; so thoroughly, in fact, that it is now the public which suffers by restriction rather than the railroads. Russia today furnishes an illustration of what railroad restriction can mean. With millions of tons of products on its farms, that nation is barefoot and its cities hungry because it cannot move these products to market. We have not yet reached such a state of congestion, and probably we never will, but we are headed in that direction if relief is not provided.

Every day every individual is paying the price of delay. The railroads cannot correct the situation unless they are allowed what may seem to the average person a heavy increase in rates. With such an increase they can improve transportation. Such improvement will more than pay for itself by reducing the overhead expense in all business and so to the consumer.

The public should cast aside its old theories concerning the railroads and accept the new facts. Rates must and will be increased. Paradoxical as it may sound, higher freight rates eventually will mean lower prices.

FOR A GREATER AMERICAN LEGION.

The present state-wide campaign to increase the membership of the American Legion from 60,000 to 100,000 veterans should be of interest, not only to the veterans themselves, but to the people at large.

Despite opposition to the bonus and ill feeling aroused thereby, and despite the errors due to imperfect organization, the Legion has already proved itself a power and an influence for good. This has been demonstrated by its stand against radicalism. Incidentally it has been shown by the increase of from $30 to $80 a month in the compensation for disabled soldiers.

Its potential power and influence are even greater, but they depend largely upon the extension of its membership and the general improvement of its national organization. It now has more than 1,500,000 members. Some 2,500,000 others can qualify for membership. For their own good and the good of the country we believe they should do so. Four million well organized men can exert a tremendous influence in the nation's affairs. The record of the Legion to date and our acquaintance with individual members lead us to believe that this influence will on the whole be good. For their own advantage and the future advantage of the nation we believe the veterans should join and support the Legion. Unless they do so their strength will be dissipated and a great opportunity lost.

SPINACH WITH A KICK.

At the risk of starting an invasion of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium grounds which will leave them in ruins, spread to the parks, and require the sparrow cops to be more alert and nimble than the sparrows which they shepherd, we sound our seasonal pean to the succulent dandelion as the spinach with a kick.

Properly approached, it will make the old young, the sluggish vigorous, the fat lean, the hungry satisfied, and the poor richer. Its pursuit, capture, Fletcherization, and digestion will reduce the strike evil, tame the red, reduce the cost of living, calm unrest, and bring us to look upon life with a less jaundiced eye. Is there any other one thing holding such possibilities of happiness? We doubt it.

Take your case knife in hand and invade the lawn. If you have no lawn, do your hunting on the highways. If the prize eludes you there, accept Dr. Robertson's invitation to weed the sanitarium grounds. Get the fresh air, the sunlight, and the dandelions. Cook them or serve them as salad. Even those who still bewail their light wines and beer will find life no so dark with this spinach with a kick. Even the prohibitionists will take a more tolerant view of mankind's follies.

THE NATIONAL FOREIGN TRADE CONVENTION.

Fifty Chicago business men, headed by Wyllys W. Baird, president of the Association of Commerce, left this city May 1 to attend the seventh national foreign trade convention which meets in San Francisco on May 12. Similar delegations are booked from all sections of the country. The meeting will be one of real importance to the country.

Statistics reveal a steady decrease in numerous lines of United States exports of late. This is due in part to the foreign exchange situation and in part to the fact that Europe is beginning to supply its own needs along lines which have been furnished by the United States for several years. Whatever the cause, the fact remains that our foreign market is shrinking. To keep our factories running and a profitable exchange of exports and imports moving, it is essential that new markets be opened and trade routes established.

Wise counsel and agreement among the nation's leading business men is advisable to this end. The convention provides an opportunity for formation of practical policies. The men who attend it are carrying a real responsibility. Upon their decisions may depend a readjustment which will mean prosperity or hardship to millions.

Editorial of the Day

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

(Los Angeles Times)

Undismayed by a record that reads very much like a petition in bankruptcy, all liabilities and no assets, Democratic cohorts 50,000 strong are preparing to gather in San Francisco on June 28 for one of the most riotous wakes that ever attended the demise of a great political party. It is to be a wide open convention with the ceiling for the limit. There will be but few pledged delegates, for the good and sufficient reason that the leading Democrats of the country have all declined to go into presidential primaries.

There is, of course, the old chance that the Republican party may split up or commit hara-kari in Chicago before the Democratic convention meets, and for that reason Palmer, McDougall, Hitchcock, and a few other administration Democrats are waiting in the wings.

President Wilson wants to make the league of nations and the ratification of the peace treaty without reservations the one issue of the campaign, and, if his health permits, it is understood that he will go himself to San Francisco and address the convention. But the majority of the Democratic leaders are averse to making article X of the league of nations covenant the one issue. They suspect that the majority of the voters of the country prefer the reservations proposed by the Republican majority in the senate to the treaty as it was written.

That there will be a clash over this plank is indisputable, and it will test the comparative strength of the Democratic party and the so-called Wilson party. But it is not at all certain that the peace treaty will get the right of way in the Democratic convention. Gov. Edwards of New Jersey is regarded by what was once the dominant wing of the Democratic party as the one wet hope of the country. The wet is a man of secure and conservative national prohibition enforcement plank in the platform. They would like to write into it a plea for light wines and beer and then nominate Edwards for president. Those who have watched the trend of political events during recent months agree that the wet forces will make a desperate struggle for possession of the works at San Francisco.

Then follows this appalling explanation in brackets: "Harry has been to the circus lately, and has probably confused menagerie lion with imaginary line."

THE SUMMERY DAYS OF JUNE.

The summery days of June,
When birds can sing so brightly,
An' none of 'em out of tune.

It's gettin' on towards summer,

BEATING THE ICEMAN.

THOSE people who cannot afford ice are up against a hard proposition during the hot weather when it comes to milk. Either they have to do without or else they are forced to buy from the stores in small quantities twice a day or oftener.

In Europe during the course of the war they learned to use dried milk to a large extent. Now that the war is over they seem disposed to stick to dried milk and we ship a good part of the goods to them. Two years ago the British government issued a voluminous report on milk powder as a baby food.

Dr. V. Borland, writing in the London Lancet, gives directions for baby feeding when dried milk is used. His emphasis is on the fact that all measurements are in terms of a level teaspoonful. He disregards age entirely and goes wholly by weight in making his formula. Young babies are fed every three hours or a total of six feedings in the twenty-four hours. Older babies are fed every three and one-half hours or a total of five feedings in twenty-four hours. The total number of feedings in a first is five, but this is speedily reduced to four.

A baby weighing seven pounds or less is fed a number of teaspoonfuls of dried milk equal to 9 plus the weight. If the baby weighs between 7 and 16 pounds add eight teaspoonfuls of boiled water for every teaspoonful of dried milk. If the child weighs over 16 pounds the number of teaspoonfuls of dried milk at a feeding is that of the second—6, 7, 8, 9, as the case may be.

He never goes over thirty teaspoonfuls of dried milk in a day. Whenever the baby is large enough to need more food than is supplied by thirty level teaspoonfuls of dried milk a day he is large enough to eat milk puddings and other accessory foods.

To bring dried milk back to whole milk add eight teaspoonfuls of boiled water for every teaspoonful of the dry powder. Some of the British health officers advocated diluting the milk with less than eight parts of water, especially in certain baby digestion troubles. They say that certain cases of babies and babies suffering from indigestion do better on milk powder to which not very much water has been added.

Borland says that when a baby being fed milk powder cannot be brought to take the milk, it is best to give directions for one month. The instructions given under these circumstances is to increase the daily allowance of dried milk one-half teaspoonful each week.

Mrs. F. J. B. writes: "Will you be good enough to advise me through your column whether sneezing about a dozen times upon arising and frequently during the day, accompanied by profuse blowing of my nose, is an indication of hay fever? I have been bothered this way for the last ten months."

REPLY.

Your trouble is not hay fever. A polyp or other abnormal nose condition is a possibility.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER

DON'T CROSS THE BRIDGE, ETC.

The bridge bill now pending in congress is the source of much worry and speculation of the ex-service men. They write to this department daily for some definite information about it. It is impossible to make any definite statement about what the bill will provide until the bill is passed, if it does become a law. To watch the news items from day to day is the most encouragement that can be given now. If the bonus is paid, many ex-service men barred from collecting it through some rigid discrimination of the law will think that they are unjustly treated. However, these will be in the minority, as such a law, affecting so many, will be so constructed as to be of benefit to the most men justly entitled to the compensation.

WANTS TO GO BACK.

Chicago, May 3.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Having a little time today I am going to ask you a question which I have been on my mind for some time. I have thought ever since I returned to the States that I should like to go back to France. I have heard that many firms are employing men to go to France on reconstruction work. I can't find out the names of any of these firms. Can you tell me where to apply? W. N. F.

The war department received so many letters making the same inquiry that they directed all the firms contracting for reconstruction work in France and found that many of the men who had been barred from collecting it through some rigid discrimination of the law will think that they are unjustly treated. However, these will be in the minority, as such a law, affecting so many, will be so constructed as to be of benefit to the most men justly entitled to the compensation.

TO CHANGE METHODS OF PAYMENTS.

Maynard, Ia., May 3.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I am in the naval reserve of the ninth, tenth, and eleventh naval districts. I have not received my Victory button. Where shall I send for it?

I have converted my insurance to a thirty year term policy to be paid to my beneficiary in 240 monthly installments. I now wish to change this so that the money will be paid in a lump sum in the event of my death. How shall I go about it to have it changed? E. S.

The Victory buttons are available at any navy recruiting office. Or you may apply to your district commandant, at Great Lakes, Ill. Send along your release papers when applying for the button.

To make other disposition of your insurance benefits, write to the insurance section of the bureau of war risk insurance, Washington, D. C. Be sure to give your full name, serial number, policy, or certificate number and the organization with which you served.

"FLEET REVIEW" AGENT APPOINTED.

Chief Yeoman A. S. Telekies, U. S. N., of the local navy recruiting station, 613 South State street, has been designated as an agent for the Fleet Review, the Journal of the enlisted men of the United States navy. May's issue has been received and is now on sale. This magazine contains the latest developments in the service pay issue and reports are up to the minute. Also marine experiment, vocational training, fully described with a brief review of the navy, and many other interesting items of interest to service and ex-service men.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Members of the Fifty-fifth infantry auxiliary are invited to attend a May dance at the Khaki and Blue club tomorrow night.

CITIZENSHIP SCHOOLS.

Highland Park, Ill., May 4.—[The Friend of the People.]—Please let me know if there is a book published giving questions and answers regarding second citizenship papers. If so where could I get a copy?

REPLY.

Such books may be obtained at any of the larger book stores. However, the government furnishes such text books to the public schools (free) for use of those attending the special classes (free) for prospective citizens. The joint school-government diploma is recognized by the courts, and those holding such diplomas are not examined in "government" before the court.

NO SPRING CLEANING.

Chicago, May 1.—[The Legal Friend of the People.]—Am the owner of one of two flat buildings, furnished heated. Tenant's lease expires May 15. Condition in lease demands that tenant cleans, keeping premises in a sanitary condition. Notice tenant accumulated coal ashes, at least one-half ton in basement, though requested to remove same, is not doing so. Lease does not stipulate janitor service. How can I enforce removal of these ashes?

REPLY.

See him. Your rights depend largely on the words of the lease.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

GETTING OLDER.

Chicago, May 3.—[The Legal Friend of the People.]—Twenty-three years ago I entered into a contract or took out a policy for $4,000 with the understanding I was to pay $18 per month, which I have paid regularly. Now the first of this month I greatly lament the age of 60, they notify me my payments will be $12.40 per month for same amount. Is that legal or have I got any recourse to stop them from collecting? C. R. C.

REPLY.

Probably legal. The policy is probably expressly subject to the company's right to increase the premium.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

AN I. O. U. OUTLAWED.

Chicago, May 3.—[The Legal Friend of the People.]—How long must a legal debt stand before it is outlawed? "C" says one year; "W" says longer.

REPLY.

In Illinois five years on a contract as a writing. Ten years on a verbal contract.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

"THE RESTLESS AGE."

Oakland, Ill., April 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am teaching a class in citizenship in high school. In this class are several senior boys from just such farm homes as Mr. McCutcheon portrays. These boys declare that they will never be farmers. One will receive a Dodge for a graduation present. His father drives a fine Packard. The farm has a Ford and a Fordson. This boy's ambition is to become an osteopath.

As a teacher of youth and a student of sociology I greatly lament the current desire of our youth to leave the farm. These boys are doing, however, exactly what I and three brothers have done. And even father has "moved to the city" now.

I believe the nation needs a vigorous "stick to the farm" campaign.

J. T. DORRIS.

DEFENDING LIFE ON THE FARM.

Rockford, Ill., April 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A word to S. G. of Champagne, Ill.: In taking issue with Mr. McCutcheon's cartoon showing a library of books in a farm home you forget that Mr. McCutcheon knew up in Indiana, where books are made. Your visiting and working must have been on the farms over toward Danville, in the log cabin neighborhood.

From my front porch I can see half a dozen farm homes, furnished heated, electric lighted, hot and cold running water systems, with books on every subject of interest to the family.

Stop contrasting the worst in the country with the best in the city. In every city there are places in which a single block contains more squalor, poverty, and mere existence than can be found in the entire country in which I live.

I do not pretend to know why the country is being depleted of workers. I know it is not lack of books. I know it is not a question of wages, for I offered a factory worker the same wages for the same hours' work and in addition a good residence, electric lighted, with a bonus of $100 at the end of the year, and he refused.

This I know: The food supply will be reduced materially until men are forced to work the land. People cannot live on diversions. It may require an old fashioned Cleveland panic, with its bread lines, to persuade men to change their view of "diversions." Money will not buy food and Diet Cure Insomnia.

One Pupil Finds Exercise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If it is true that "the grave doth gape for the heavy man," there's a good reason to be some forty graves at least crowded out of any early occupancy if the pupils of Dr. Robertson's class and mine keep up the good work they are doing.

One of the things they've found, to their surprise, is that they can get around much more nimbly on a restricted diet and with vigorous daily exercise, and that as the days go on the effort at self-denial and physical exertion is not Herculean at all. A habit, on the contrary!

It's a Cure for Insomnia.

R. G. Starkweather, in addition to knocking off seven and one-half pounds, has discovered that regular exercise and a plain diet make sleep possible for the insomnia troubled.

"I have been troubled with insomnia for years," he says. "Since I have been doing this regular training work I sleep like the proverbial babe."

One of the other men has reduced his blood pressure 22 points, along with his flesh reduction.

Mrs. Evelyn Shattuck, Miss Lillian Hurwitz, and Mrs. Zipperer, of Dr. Robertson's class, all report "feeling better than they have for a long time," on account of their respective losses and their consistent daily work.

Competition's Life of It.

"You started something," said L. Simons, "when you put the contest element into this thing. Without it I don't believe you'd get the men lined up and working for a good hour daily. Why, I got up at 5:30 every morning now, and any little bird who wants to take a peep can see me doing a four mile hike before breakfast. All we needed was somebody to start this thing."

The day's report from the Wallace system of physical culture is that not a man has proved a quitter, and that there is small hope to be held out for those on the waiting list.

and legitimate investments. The Liberal Constitutional party invites foreign capital to Mexico.

"Banking interests are especially invited to Mexico with all protections, guarantees, and facilities offered them. Modifications and changes will be made in banking laws.

"Under the present administration in Mexico there are no banks. The only banks are pawnshops.

Field Held Unlimited.

"Of course the public must and will be protected, but the field for bankers is unlimited and will offer great opportunities both for the capital interested and the public.

"One of the first duties of congress when the revolutionists take control will be interpretation of the constitution that will stabilize industry. This will specially affect the oil situation and allow the operators to operate without fear of governmental action or whims."

Gov. de la Huerta outlined the future plans of the revolutionists, announced cabinet selections for the provisional government the revolutionists have set up, and reviewed the revolution to date.

He announced that orders have been issued to stop the sale of liquor and gambling.

The governor arrived today in a special train from Hermosillo to confer with revolutionary leaders. Selections for the rebel cabinet were announced in part.

De la Huerta is to be temporary head of the revolutionists pending a meeting of governors and leaders of states which have joined the revolt, when a provisional president will be selected.

Gen. P. Elias Calles was named minister of war, with Gen. F. M. Serrano second in command, a chief of staff.

Gen. Salvador Alvarado was named minister of finance.

An invitation was telegraphed Gen. Pascual Ortiz Rubio, governor of Michoacan, to become minister of communications with control of the railroads, telegraph, and telephones.

Another invitation was sent Gov. Enrique Estrada, governor of Zacatecas, to become minister of agriculture.

Leaders say they contemplated inviting Alberto Pani, Mexican minister to France under Carranza, to become minister of industry and commerce.

CAN'T SAVE ON $225 A MONTH, GOES TO FARM

A laundry wagon driver earning $225 a month gave up his job yesterday to go back to the farm at less than $100 a month.

"I could not save anything," he said. "I have worked on a farm before and know that much of the cash that comes in is clear gain. I am certain to put something away."

This is the kind of men The Tribune farm labor bureau is seeking—men who have had experience on the farm and have come to the conclusion, after trying city life, that the farm is the better place. There is no attempt to paint farm work in rosy colors. It is no vacation.

The Tribune has turned over all its applicants to the Illinois Agricultural association at 130 North Wells street. E. L. Hill of the association and Farmer J. P. Mason will be on hand today to interview men who want jobs and to help farmers get men.

Here Is A Way
To Save
Your Clothes

Clothes only partly washed or bleached with impure soaps, containing alkalis, free caustics and fillers, do not long stay clean. But if clothes are washed clean with a pure soap, they not only stay clean longer, but the wear and tear on the fine fabric is much less. You cannot, however, wash your clothes clean without injury unless the soap you use is absolutely pure.

KIRK'S
AMERICAN FAMILY
SOAP

Is an absolutely clean, concentrated soap, containing only the purest vegetable oils and country tallow, and perfectly harmless to the most delicate fabrics or the skin. It isn't pure because we say so, but because a chemical analysis will show it, and because over three generations of safe and successful use has proved it so. Clothes washed with American Family always come out lily white, sweet-smelling and clean, and in warm or cold water it washes quickly, thoroughly and safely. A delightful surprise when you use American Family in the washing machine.

GUARD OF POLICE SEATS HEALY AS SANITARY CHIEF

Sergel, Ousted President, Will Appeal to Courts.

William J. Healy was seated as president of the drainage board yesterday at a busy and exciting special meeting. Charles H. Sergel, who held the post for three years and five months, made a formal demand for the chair. He being refused he announced he would start court proceedings to regain the presidency, and left.

The chair was guarded by five sanitary district policemen when Healy arrived at the board rooms about 4 o'clock. He took the chair. A few minutes later Sergel walked in. Each held a gavel. Each peered nervously at his watch, awaiting "zero hour."

Both Call the Roll.

Promptly at 4 o'clock both pounded on the desk with their gavels and elected above the din that "the trustees are called to order and the clerk will call the roll." After the roll call both announced a quorum was present. Then there was a pause.

"I was elected president of this board by the people," Sergel said.

"I have been regularly elected," Healy returned. "I insist on presiding."

Most Ten at Polls, Sergel Says.

Sergel then asked for a vote upon his right to hold the presidency. This was refused.

Sergel then left, and with Trustee Lawley as the only representative of the minority, the board passed an ordinance including all of the nine members on each committee.

The following were elected chairmen of the enlarged committees:

Sanitary: Carr; finance: Little; engineering: Carr; electrical development: Nance; federal relations: Carr; north shore channel: Little; real estate development: Carr; rules: Little; state and municipal relations: Carr; sewer law: Carr; street and public order: Carr; Calumet Sanitary: Little; Illinois valley: Carr; emergency: Little.

Sergel is expected to ask either Attorney General Brundage or State's Attorney Hoyne tomorrow for permission to file quo warranto proceedings against the majority of the board.

GRIFFIN, "PRINCE OF GENEROSITY," DIES IN FLORIDA

Succumbs at Miami on Fishing Trip.

George Francis Griffin, son of the late Thomas A. Griffin, founder of the Griffin Wheel company, died of apoplexy yesterday at Miami, Fla. He was on a fishing trip in a yacht he had recently purchased. The telegram which conveyed news of the death contained no details.

Mr. Griffin was 39 years old. He is survived by Mrs. Griffin and three children. He and a sister, Mrs. G. F. Griffin, (Taylor Photo.)

Mr. Griffin was a member of the Chicago clubmen loses one of its most picturesque figures in his death. His generosity endeared him to rich and poor alike. He was known literally as a prince of good fellows. The stag parties, which he frequently gave, were notable for their Lucullan repasts.

As a philanthropist he was equally open handed. During the war he donated $100,000 to the Red Cross to establish a hospital for crippled and disabled men in memory of his father. He also gave $3,000 to the 2d battalion of the Illinois field artillery to buy equipment at the time of the Mexican crisis in 1915. In 1915, as a memorial to his mother, he donated $20,000 to the Lincoln park board for a band stand.

Member of Many Clubs.

Mr. Griffin was a member of the Chicago, South Shore, Chicago Athletic, University, Hamilton, Glen View Golf, and Chicago Golf clubs. He was a director of the Griffin Wheel company.

FOREIGN RELIEF AGENCIES UNITE TO AID STARVING

Plans for consolidating the work of foreign relief agencies and to promote harmony among committees collecting funds in Chicago for the war sufferers abroad were discussed at a luncheon at the Morrison hotel yesterday. Seventy persons, representing relief work in Poland, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany, and Hungary, attended.

It was decided to hold a joint conference at which a general campaign for funds will be outlined. Among those who spoke were Dr. Charles S. Bacon, chairman of the National Committee for Austria; C. A. Burton, national campaign director for the American Committee for Vienna Relief; Joseph Byfield, chairman of the American Committee for Hungarian Relief; N. L. Piotrowski, treasurer of the National Polish Relief committee, and Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, representing the Austrian relief organization.

The American Friends' Service committee was also represented by Howard H. Brinton, executive secretary, who came from Philadelphia to attend. The American Welfare Association for German Children was represented by Mrs. Josephine Buhl, chairman, and William Rehm.

All except the Rev. Wilson Vanek, of the Czechoslovak National council, agreed to the proposed plan. A meeting of that body will be held today at which it is believed it will decide to affiliate.

Each organization will have ten representatives at the joint conference. The ten selected to represent the American Committee for Vienna Relief are Joseph E. Otis, Lessing Rosenthal, Charles H. Wacker, Dr. Charles S. Bacon, Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter, the Rev. W. R. Wedderspoon, Mrs. A. H. Proudfoot, D. F. Kelly, Dr. Carl Beck and Dr. A. J. Ochener.

POSTAL ROBBERS SENT TO PRISON; WOMAN IS HELD

Judge Landis yesterday sentenced Jack Kerwin and Walter Kroll to serve nine years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas. They had pleaded guilty to charges of robbing a postal station, forging money orders, and conspiring to defraud the government.

The case of Mrs. Jessie Kerwin, wife of Jack Kerwin, an alleged drug addict and indicted with her husband and Kroll, was taken under advisement by the judge, who ordered further investigation regarding her condition.

A sister of Mrs. Kerwin's was in the court and asked that she be allowed to take the alleged drug addict home to Tennessee with her, but the judge refused.

ILLINOIS CRIME AMUSES HOUSE Foe of Dry Act

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—Illinois was pictured as a horrible example of the results of prohibition by Representative Gallivan, Massachusetts, in a speech in the house today.

"Do you remember the romantic prophecies that crime would vanish from that portion of God's footstool known as the United States of America? That our penitentiaries would become deserted wildernesses, and that our county jails and poor farms would almost instantly shut up shop, and the shades, and await peacefully the transformation into a new state where the reformed among our American men and women would hide themselves to join in the Deeds to the Lord of Hosts for the new and blessed life brought to all of us by national prohibition?" Mr. Gallivan began.

Real Crime Rampant.
"Has this happened? What are the facts? I challenge contradiction of my statement that crime—real crime, not arrests for drunkenness—is on the increase in every part of this country. The Illinois Bankers' association presents some interesting comparison as to one class of crime. In 1910 there were fifteen attacks on banks in that state with a total loss of $30,321; in 1917 there were twenty-nine with

"ROAD OF THE CROSS"; POPE REVIVES ANCIENT RITES IN COLISEUM

ROME, April 17.—After an interval of fifty years the Coliseum again has been the scene of the moving and picturesque ceremony of the Via Crucis. Pope Benedict XIV., who reigned as pope from 1740 to 1758, instituted the ceremony by placing a cross in the center of the arena, where martyrs had given their lives for the faith, and erecting fourteen stations of the cross about the historic pile. Each Friday the ancient amphitheater witnessed the solemn rite.

The practice was abandoned in 1870, when Rome became the capital of Italy, and the stations were removed in 1873 by De Rosa, the archaeologist, who made excavation there to explore the strata underlying the arena.

A loss of $111,177.08; in 1918, thirty-two, with a total loss of $178,669.80; and in 1919 there were 119 attacks on banks with a total loss of $307,000.

Dry Claims Refuted.
"Illinois was a wet state in 1916, and the fifteen attacks on banks were attributed to that condition by the prohibitionists; but in 1919 Illinois was dry and the bank burglaries increased to 119, or eight times as many, with a total loss twenty-seven times as great as in 1916. This is one of the benefits of prohibition."

Prohibition enforcement will cost $88,000,000 annually, Mr. Gallivan said. There are more illicit stills now than before prohibition became effective, he said, adding that the bulk of the Antioch-Saloon league funds are used to hire special agents to locate stills.

ERIN IS BRITAIN'S HOME PROBLEM, METHODISTS SAY

BY THE REV. F. L. GRATIOT.

Des Moines, Ia., May 4.—[Special.]—A resolution calling upon the United States government not to engage in unwarranted interference in the domestic affairs of Great Britain was introduced at the general conference of the Methodist church this morning.

The resolution was signed by the Rev. J. C. Nicholson, the Rev. W. L. McDowell, the Rev. W. W. Barnes, and the Rev. F. R. Bagley, all of the Baltimore conference. The resolution pointed out that there is "a vigorous campaign in this country to secure the recognition of the so-called republic of Ireland," and asked that all bills before congress that propose or assume recognition by our government be defeated.

Fight Betting by Mail.
The Rev. Dr. W. R. Wedderspoon, pastor of St. James' Methodist church of Chicago, and the Rev. John Thompson, superintendent of the Methodist city missions, Chicago, presented a resolution indorsing the Sterling Sims bill on gambling, now before congress. The bill makes it unlawful to use the mails, telephone, or telegraph to send gambling odds or bets between states, territories, or possessions of the United States and to ship gambling machines and devices.

"Forty-five states have outlawed race track gambling, but by the use of the telegraph and mails race track gambling continues in nearly every state in the union," the resolution says. A motion for increased "industrial evangelism" was introduced. It urged greater activity in teaching and preaching "wherever men gather to discuss industrial and social questions."

Pictures Miserly Abroad.
Bishop John L. Noulson of Zurich, Switzerland, said there are "half dressed sickly children all over Europe." He added that the line of suffering runs "through the devastated areas of Belgium and France, from north to south, east through Germany, Switzerland and north Italy into Austria-Hungary, Albania, Serbia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, then farther east through the Balkan states into Russia and through Siberia."

What is to become of Europe, he said, "if we allow a whole generation to grow up physically, intellectually and morally unable to wrestle with the problems which will confront European society thirty years from now?"

"During the last year the Methodist church has sent to Europe more than $600,000 in relief supplies."

HOMEOPATHS TO MEET.
The annual conference of the Illinois Homeopathic association will be held at the Auditorium hotel next week from May 11 to 13. More than 300 Illinois physicians will attend.

Bank's Advertisements to Interpret Chicago's Industries

As an outgrowth of the industrial articles which have appeared in the Fort Dearborn Magazine during the past ten months, the Fort Dearborn National Bank will begin, within the next few days, a series of illustrated educational advertisements in both morning and evening Chicago papers, interpreting the various lines of Chicago industry, the number of men employed in each, volume of the business in the Chicago area and other vital facts. Industry is the basis of all wealth and growth and it is important that we familiarize ourselves with Chicago's part in supplying the world with manufactured products.

Research and Statistical Information to be Furnished

IN connection with the preparation of these advertisements, together with the series of industrial articles now running in the Fort Dearborn Magazine, it has become necessary for us to inaugurate an Industrial Research and Statistical Department. Extra copies of the industrial advertisements, also reprints in bulletin form of all industrial articles appearing in the Fort Dearborn Magazine, may be had upon request.

Carrying Chicago's Fame to European Countries

THIS service to Chicago and Chicago industry will not be restricted to the Chicago territory alone. Edward N. Heinz, manager of the Fort Dearborn Bank's Foreign Department, is now in Europe attending the Industrial Fairs at Leipzig, Lille, and Brussels. Mr. Heinz took with him hundreds of copies of the Fort Dearborn Magazine, also of "Commerce", the official organ of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the booklet known as "Chicago Facts", and other literature, for distribution among bankers and others interested in foreign trade.

Students' Educational Tours to Begin Next Week

STUDENTS' Educational Tours through the Fort Dearborn Banks, in parties of 25, will begin next week. Bookkeeping by machinery, the massive vaults, the foreign department where the Chinese count their deposits upon a thorn pon, and many other features of absorbing interest will be pointed out. School teachers or leaders of industrial study clubs may arrange for a tour by writing or phoning the bank.

LOYOLA LADS GO THROUGH PLAYS LIKE LEAGUERS

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

When youths of 18 years are familiar with practically every play that is made by the big leaguers it isn't surprising that they accomplish good results on the baseball field. After watching the boys at Loyola academy go through their regular afternoon drill one is inclined to think neither Kid Gleason nor Fred Mitchell could spring anything new on them.

In a game of ball it must be unusual for the Loyola lads to be confronted with a situation that hasn't been all rehearsed before, and being for the most part of Irish descent, it is likely they would have the initiative and baseball instinct to handle even something new. They are wonderfully well schooled in the national game and there is a system and order in their practice that is admirable.

Phillies Lost a Good Man.

Perhaps it is because Mr. John J. Sullivan, one of the instructors, who attends to the coaching, is a baseball man quite above the ordinary high school leader. One of the lads whispered that Mr. Sullivan a few years ago was such a star in the Philadelphia Nationals. It is possible as if the Phillies may have lost a good man, because Mr. Sullivan decided to stay in school work.

Although clothed in the dignified garb of his position, the Loyola coach can grab a bat and show a youngster the proper way to crown the pill, or he can take a throw to second and show how to block the runner until he is tagged. I don't doubt that he could do a hook slide, too, though he didn't attempt it on this occasion.

Practice All Angles to Plays.

But his system of drill on the field is the most instructive of all the prep leaders I have seen. When the infielders are having their practice a pitcher is on the slab, the catcher is in position and base runners are on the paths. A batter is up, working with signs with the base runners, and the battery and infielders are working with signs to catch the base runners.

He has a couple of base runners drilling on the double steal at the same time he has the infielders and catcher drilling on the method to break it up. The squeeze play is practiced at the same time the infielders and battery scheme to stop it.

During this work, Mr. Sullivan watched every move of his boys, first correcting the offensive end of the play and then the defensive. And at all times he had the undivided attention of his boys. They were as orderly in their work on the ball field as in the classroom, and all seemed to have a clear conception of what was all about.

Good Battery Trio.

Martin Clark, who does the catching, is captain of the team. He's a graceful receiver and snappy peger, and appeared to use his wits well in the drill of picking runners off the bases. He has a pair of experienced pitchers to work with. In Leonard McGraw, whom the boys call "Mugsey" and Ed Koehler. McGraw is a southpaw with a regular pitching motion and good control. Koehler hurled with the right arm.

John Nehren is a tall speedy fellow who plays at first base. Jim McKenna is a sturdy boy at second who picks up a grounder nicely, besides doing the things that regular second basemen do, such as covering first on bunts and cutting up in front of second to take a short throw and peg to the plate to break up a double steal.

Ed Schmitt at short, is small, but one of the most active fellows on the team. He's also lead off man in the batting order and has an eye. Wilfred Coyne, third baseman, is short but sturdy, and displayed a whip of more than ordinary speed.

Gardners Are Good Batmen. In the outfield are John Kleutsch in left, John Begg in center, and Phil Bowne in right. Begg is one of the best swatters of the crew, hitting left handed and in the cleanup position. He covers a lot of ground with his six feet of height. Kleutsch can turn his back to the game and go after a fly ball like a veteran and can peg to the plate with remarkable speed and accuracy.

Bowne appears a bit newer, but seems sure on fly balls and good at the bat. Some husky utility men were present in Frank Penney and Ed Hunt, outfielders, Frank Minogue, a pitcher, and Larry O'Connor, a young catcher.

Aurora, Ill., May 4.—[Special.]—Jimmy Travers, Chicago featherweight, was knocked out in the eighth round by Marty Henderson of Joliet in the windup of the boxing show staged here tonight. The Joliet boy led all the way and put Travers down with a right uppercut to the chin. In the semi-windup Jack Coyne stopped Al Tuttle in seven rounds. Referee Purdy stopping the bout. In the other ten round bout Joe Berger and Jimmy Kelly, Chicago bantamweights, fought a draw. Al Morris, a heavyweight, beat Harry Singer, weighing twenty-five pounds less, in six rounds. The bouts drew a $1,700 house.

PURPLE BOXERS STRIKEBREAKERS: FORFEIT BOUTS

Northwestern university fellows acquired the principle of physical preparedness as well in the boxing classes of the last several months that last night's final bouts for the campus championship disclosed a number of absentees. Yesterday morning several of the boys who "puck the punch" were sought as strike breaking waiters at the Marigold gardens and the "change" involved was sufficient inducement.

The idea of any interference from the striking waiters brought smiles and a modest display of bulging biceps. Officials in charge of the boxing told the boys to go to it, if they wanted to be waiters, but their model bouts at Patten gym had to go as forfeits.

Two Mat Absentees. There were two absentees in the wrestling championships, also, neither Grausnick nor Roberts, the 168 pound finalist, being able to go into action, as the result of sundry abrasions and other mementoes of last week's scrap against Evanston police in connection with the freshman cap burning ceremonies.

Brothers Henry and Graham Penfield, both members of the football squad, took the chance to settle a matter of mooted rivalry by a special mat bout. Both scale around 175 pounds. It lasted three minutes before Brother Henry managed to lock Brother Graham in a grip and plunk him to the floor.

RESULTS OF MATCHES. BOXING—115 pounds—Ruff won by forfeit, opponent being on "strike duty" as waiter. 125 pounds—Ruff won by forfeit, opponent being on "strike duty." 135 pounds—Newman won from Clauson (13 rounds). 145 pounds—San Lock won from Tiegler (13 rounds). 158 pounds—Jack Hathaway won from Owen (13 rounds). 175 pounds—Bieschke won by forfeit, opponent being on "strike duty." 185 pounds—235 pounds—Myers won from Wolf.

In the Wake of the News

THE BLOODLESS WAR. The battle of the Marne is over. Verdun is saved in France. Where allied armies heavily fought. To check the Hun's advance. In Flanders' field red roses silence now. No more the roar of guns.

Yes, over there, it's over now; The future, grief, and pain, The laugh of woe and suffering Are scenes of joy again. But over here, upon our shores, A new war leads its din. A strife of might and magnitude That men, not death, will win.

Yes, over there, it's over now. The waste of life has ceased. While here, back home, each day reveals Hostilities increased. On every hand, the battles rage. With conflicts here and yon. But hark, let joy be unconfined. THE PENNANT FIGHT is on.

A. H. E. Derby Special.

Lexington, Ky., May 4.—[Special to Tribune.]—Slept in the stall of Golden Broom last night and found this chestnut son of Sweeper much upset by his reverse in the Blue Grass stakes last Saturday. He said:

"The public thinks I'm a quitter, but nothing ever would tempt me to cross my friends. It was my approaching and putting that beat me. Notice how I got away from the tee straight down the course and that I led all through the fairway, or back stretch, as we call it."

"I carried those other duffers six furlongs in 1:11 3/5. That's going some."

BANKER SUED WHEN HE OFFERS RUSSIAN RUBLES

Vladimir Braslawsky, head of Braslawsky & Co., bankers, and of the Russian-American bureau, 160 North Wells street, was named in a suit for $2,500 filed in the Circuit court yesterday in behalf of Christian Chanci, a steel worker in the South Chicago rolling mills.

According to Attorney Jose Ward Hoover, counsel for Chanci, the latter gave Braslawsky $2,500 in August, 1919, and received a bank book showing a deposit of 16,400 Russian rubles.

"Chanci tells me that Braslawsky inveigled him into the transaction," Mr. Hoover said. The banker is said now to be in Russia.

Calls It Speculation.

Eugene Braslawsky, brother of the defendant, who is conducting the business at 706 West Roosevelt road, declared Chanci was simply speculating in rubles. "We do not speculate," he asserted. "He gave us the money and we purchased the rubles for him, placing them to his account. He may have them any time he comes for them. When we made the purchase rubles were selling at $15 a hundred. They are now about $1.50 a hundred."

A Distinguished Horseman.

Before the war Braslawsky acted as American representative for several big Russian business concerns.

Vladimir Braslawsky, who then lived at 4235 Sheridan road, was at one time a lieutenant in the Russian army, and was to be seen often on the bridge paths in Lincoln park.

A run on the bank in 1916 was stopped by Braslawsky when he offered to pay all the depositors.

Son Who Killed Father Is "Marked for Death"

Guy Marsico, 16, who killed his father to save his mother's life at their home, 2378 South Wells street, Sunday night, has been "condemned to die" by the vendetta law of "Little Italy." So his mother testified at the inquest yesterday. Mrs. Marsico said a few minutes after the tragedy Sam Mustari, 251 West Third street, a friend of her husband, rushed into the house and swore to avenge him. The inquest was continued to permit a search for Mustari.

Sale of 12,500 Yards of Beautiful Fiber Sports Silks At Remarkably Lowered Prices

The cost of producing silks of this character has not lessened over the last twelve months' period. But this store finds it expedient to regroup this great quantity of beautiful sports silks into two vast assortments at such lowered prices as to produce immediately most active selling.

Not for months has such an event as this occurred in silk circles and we doubt very much if such pricing will be duplicated for some time to come.

Although the season for such silks as these is now just at hand, the following all-silk and fiber-silk sports fabrics are included at

$5.75 and $6.75 Yard

Fiber silks in novelty plaids in great profusion in new shades and color combinations and white, 40 inches wide.

Fiber Jacquard silks in many effective Jacquard patterns in the new color combinations and white, 40 inches wide.

All-silk crepe satins in white, black and colors, 40 inches wide.

Plain fiber silks in the leading colors and white, 40 inches wide.

Striped fiber silks in many new effects and in new summer shades, beautiful color combinations and white, 40 inches wide.

Rich, printed novelty fiber silks in exclusive designs, 40 inches wide.

Corded fiber silks in the leading color combinations, 40 inches wide.

Plain and brocaded fiber satins in beautiful colors and black and white, in the 40-inch wide.

These are the sports silks favored of the hour for skirts, blouses, sports suits and frocks, silks which are also used in combination with other fabrics. They will be marked at these reduced prices, $5.75 and $6.75 yard, only while present assortments last and consequently early selection is advised.

GRAIN BULGES ARE UNCHECKED; OFFERS LIGHTER

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

All deliveries of corn, oats and rye advanced to new high figures on the crop, and closed within a fraction of the top. There was a lack of pressure the greater part of the day, while short covering was persistent. Corn closed 1 1/2¢ higher, oats 1 1/2¢, and rye 1 1/2¢ higher, while rye was unchanged to 1/4¢ up.

While sentiment was inclined to be rather bearish on both corn and oats, the believers in lower prices did not have the courage of their convictions. Profit taking of an important character was in evidence on the bulge, and, with selling against the offer, was instrumental in checking the upturn. A rumor that a sharp strike had been settled made a sharp break at one time.

The action of the grain markets suggested that a very strained situation existed. Reports of renewed financial disturbances in Japan, however, attracted no attention, as stocks in Wall Street were higher. Commission houses advised great caution on either side of the markets.

New Yorker Buys Oats.

A feature in oats was the heavy buying of July and September credited to Robert Sumner, a New York trader who was here. He was believed to be covering shorts, having had a spread between May and the July and September, and the former was sold out recently. Bulk of the selling was by local traders.

Despite the fact that all grains were in new ground, the number of stop loss orders caught on the bulge was small. Weather conditions were more favorable and the bulk of the seedling in parts of the belt was reported as finished.

Grain prices in Chicago are far out of line with those in Europe. American clipped oats in Liverpool were quoted at 91/16, or 2 1/2¢ under the outside price paid in the local spot market. Canadian No. 1 extra feed, based on the closing figures, could have been laid down at Chicago at around 10 1/8¢. American mixed corn in Liverpool was $2.04, or only 8¢ above No. 2 yellow here. July pork were sold by Morris to shorts. Domestic cash trade is improving.

Prices following:

	High.	Low.	May 4.	May 3.	May 2.
May	34.80	34.80	34.80	35.00	35.75

Sept.	37.00	37.00	37.00	37.00	37.00

Lard prices declined early on selling induced by the delivery of 1,000,000 lbs on May contracts. Offerings were absorbed by commission houses and with the strength in grains the effect of lower prices for hogs was offset and a good rally came, which was mostly lost at the last, the close being 7 1/2¢ lower on May and 7 1/2¢ to 10¢ higher on other months. Total deliveries for the day were 1,150,000 lbs. A large line of July short ribs were covered by one house with eastern connections and 5,000 ribs July pork were sold by Morris to shorts. Domestic cash trade is improving.
